Foreword

We, the Life staff of 1927, present to you a review of all of our happy memories of the past school year. We have endeavored to embody in this book - the design of which is patterned after the architecture of our school - the spirit which has helped to determine our efforts and our achievements.

Dedication

In acknowledgement of his true services toward the betterment of our school and in appreciation of his sincere friendship for the students, we, the seniors of the Fond du Lac High School, dedicate this, the nineteenth volume of Life, to Superintendent Lowell P. Goodrich.

Superintendent
L. P. Goodrich

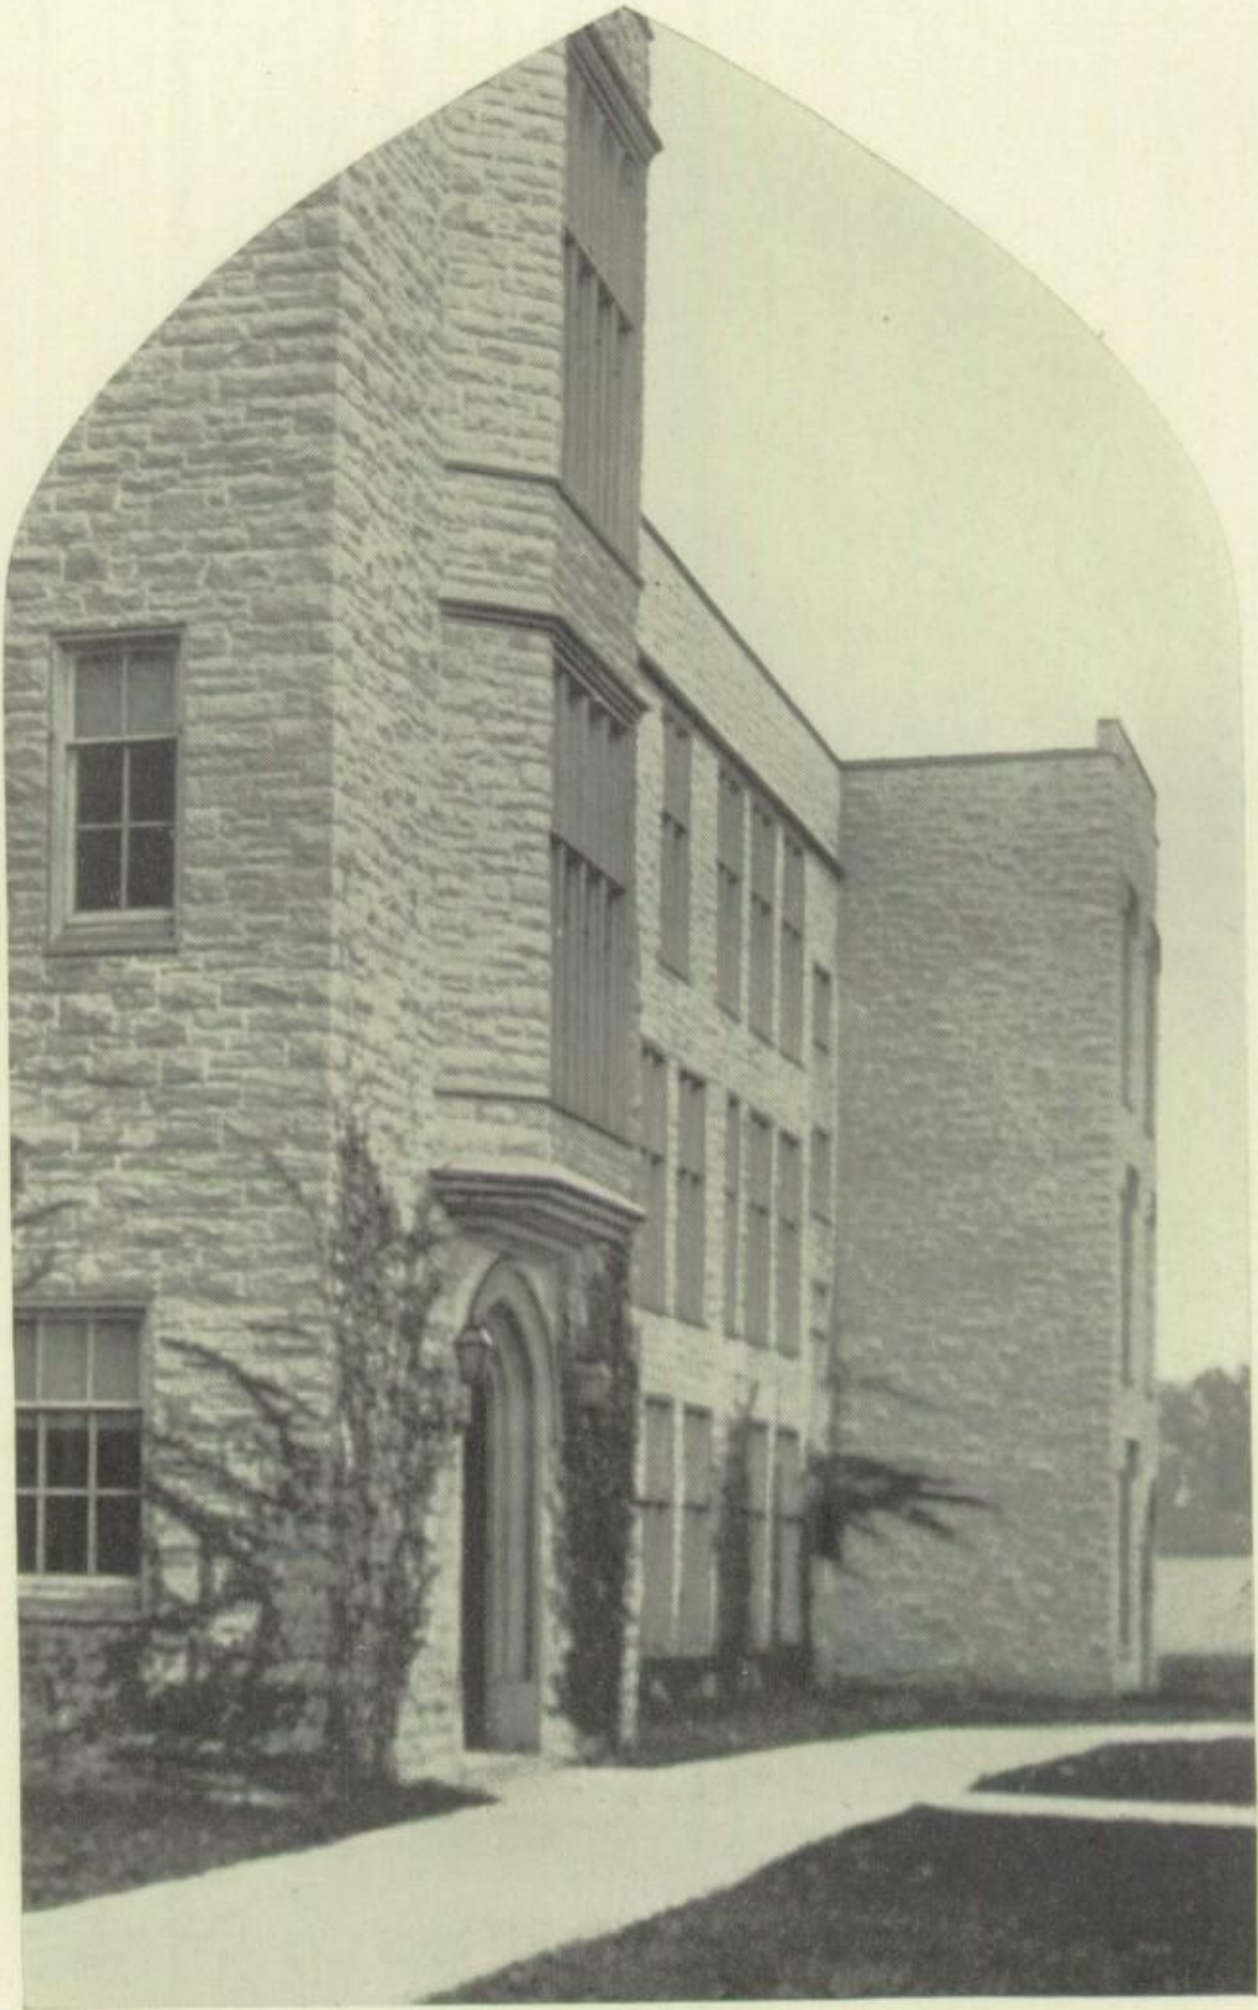

The School Toast

Oh Fondy High! Oh Fondy High!
A song to thee we raise
Oh Fondy High! Oh Fondy High!
We lift our voice in praise.
A glorious life in thee we live,
Our grateful hearts to thee we give.
Oh Fondy High! Oh Fondy High!

Oh Fondy High! Oh Fondy High!
We raise our banner bright.
Oh Fondy High! Oh Fondy High!
The symbol of the right.
We lift our voices loud and clear,
We sound thy praises far and near,
Oh! Fondy High! Oh Fondy High!
Oh Fondy High!

"Not Art out Nature traced these lovely lines
And carbed this graceful arabesque of vines."

"Our School—

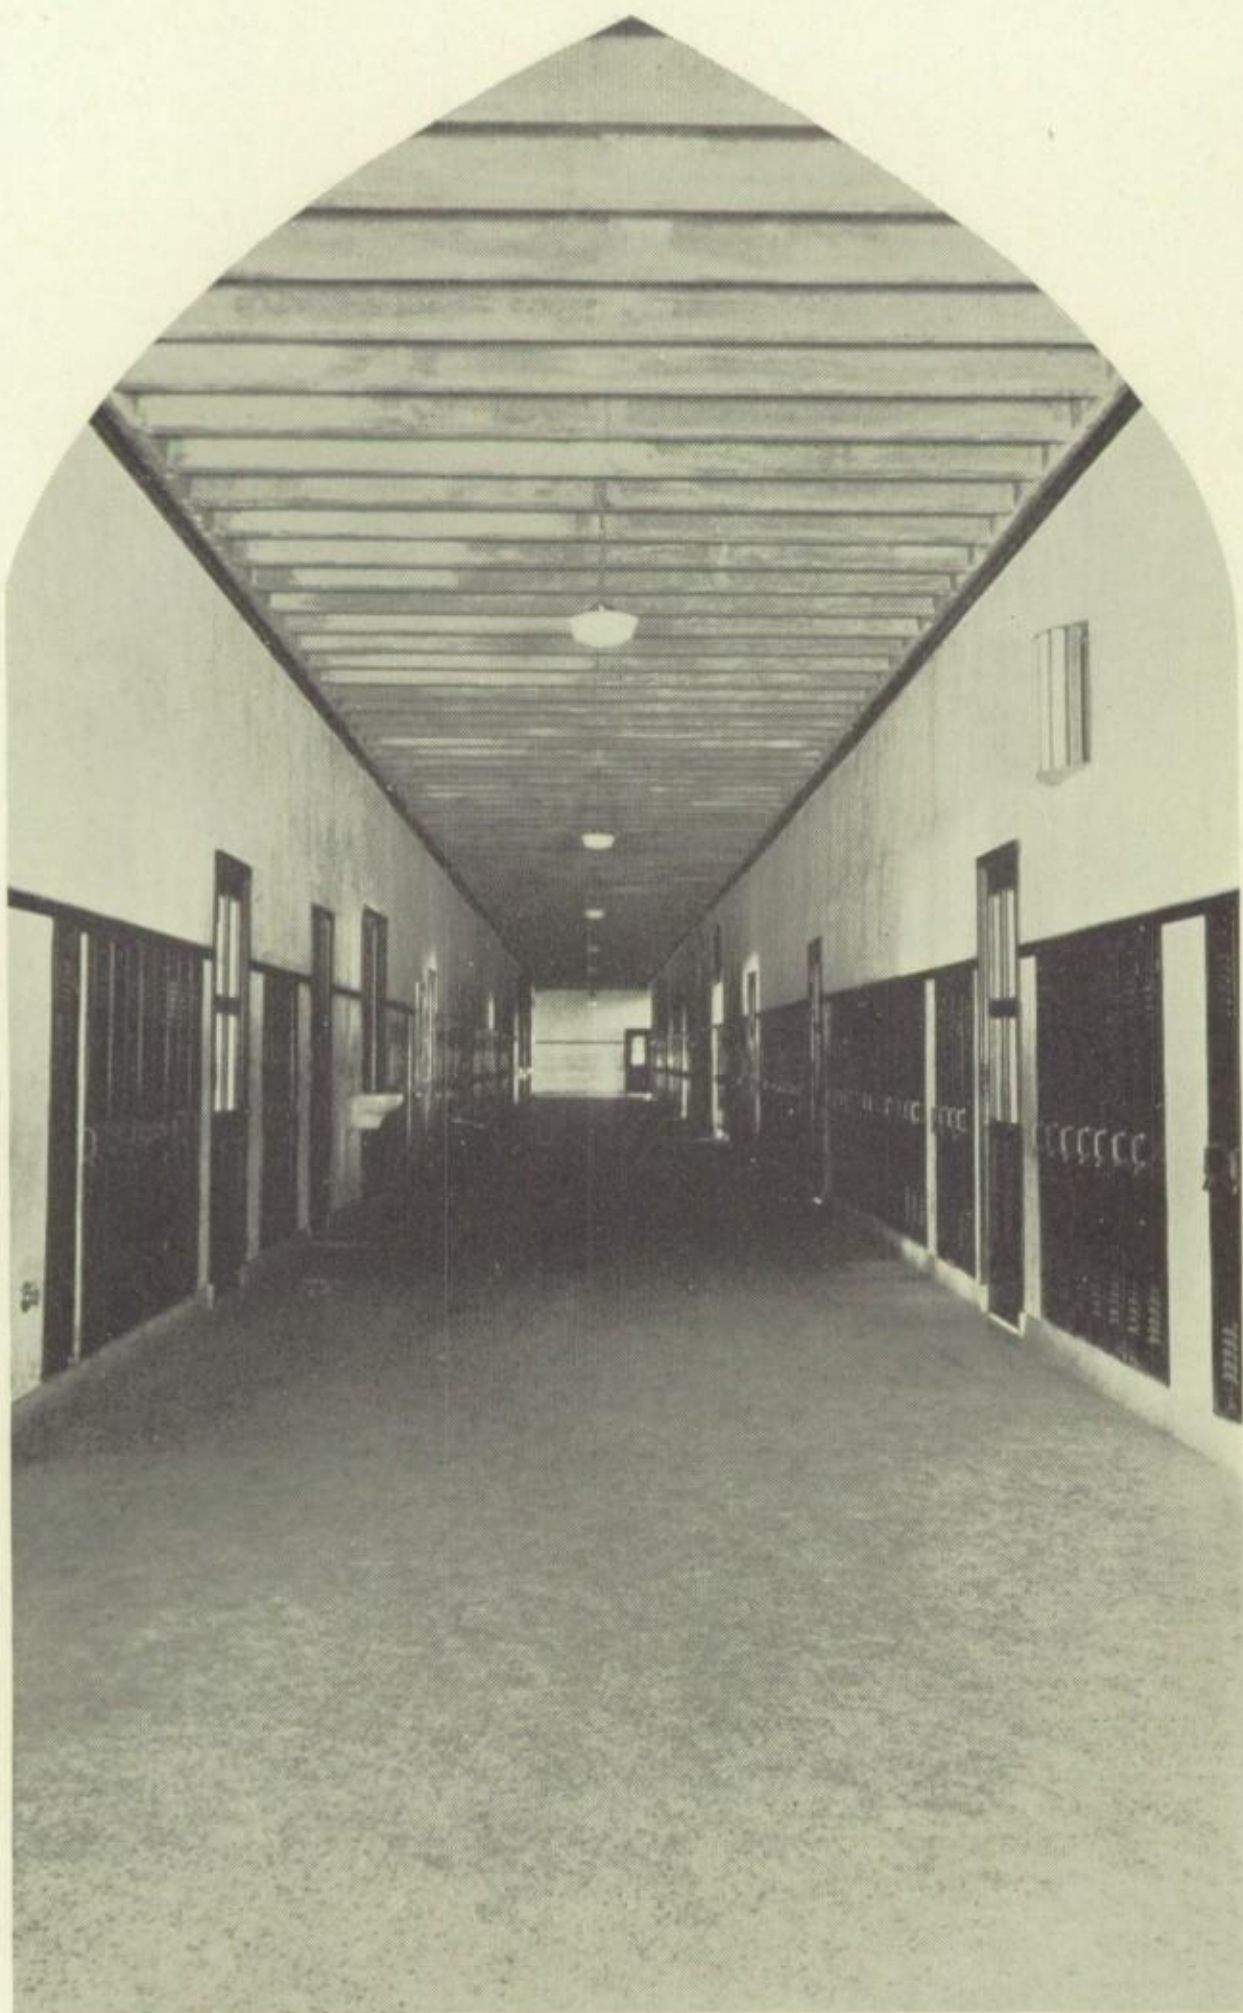

Not a building but a home for students."

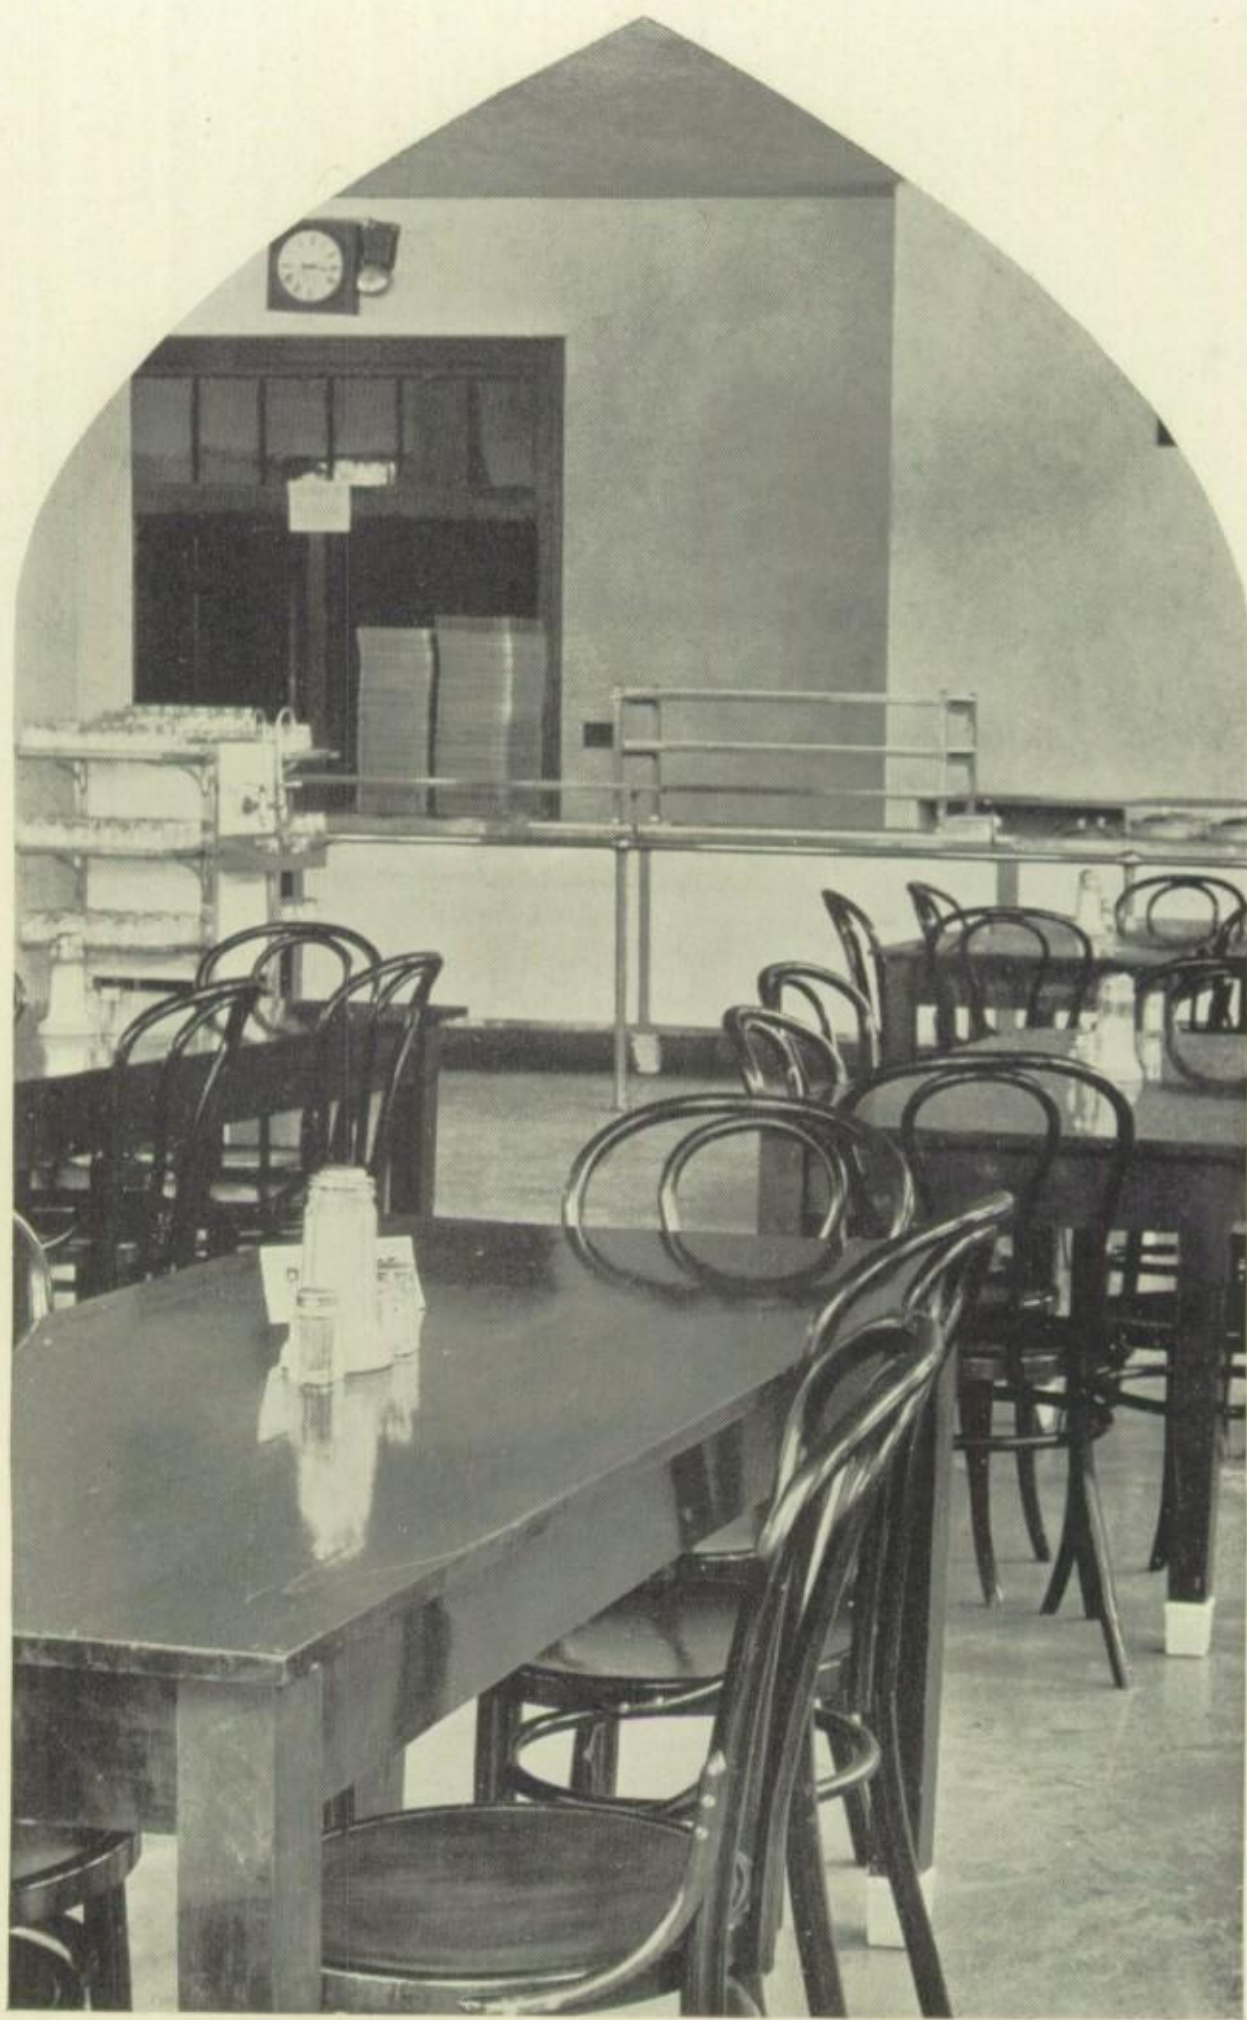

"When Youth and Pleasure meet
To chase the glowing hours with flying feet."

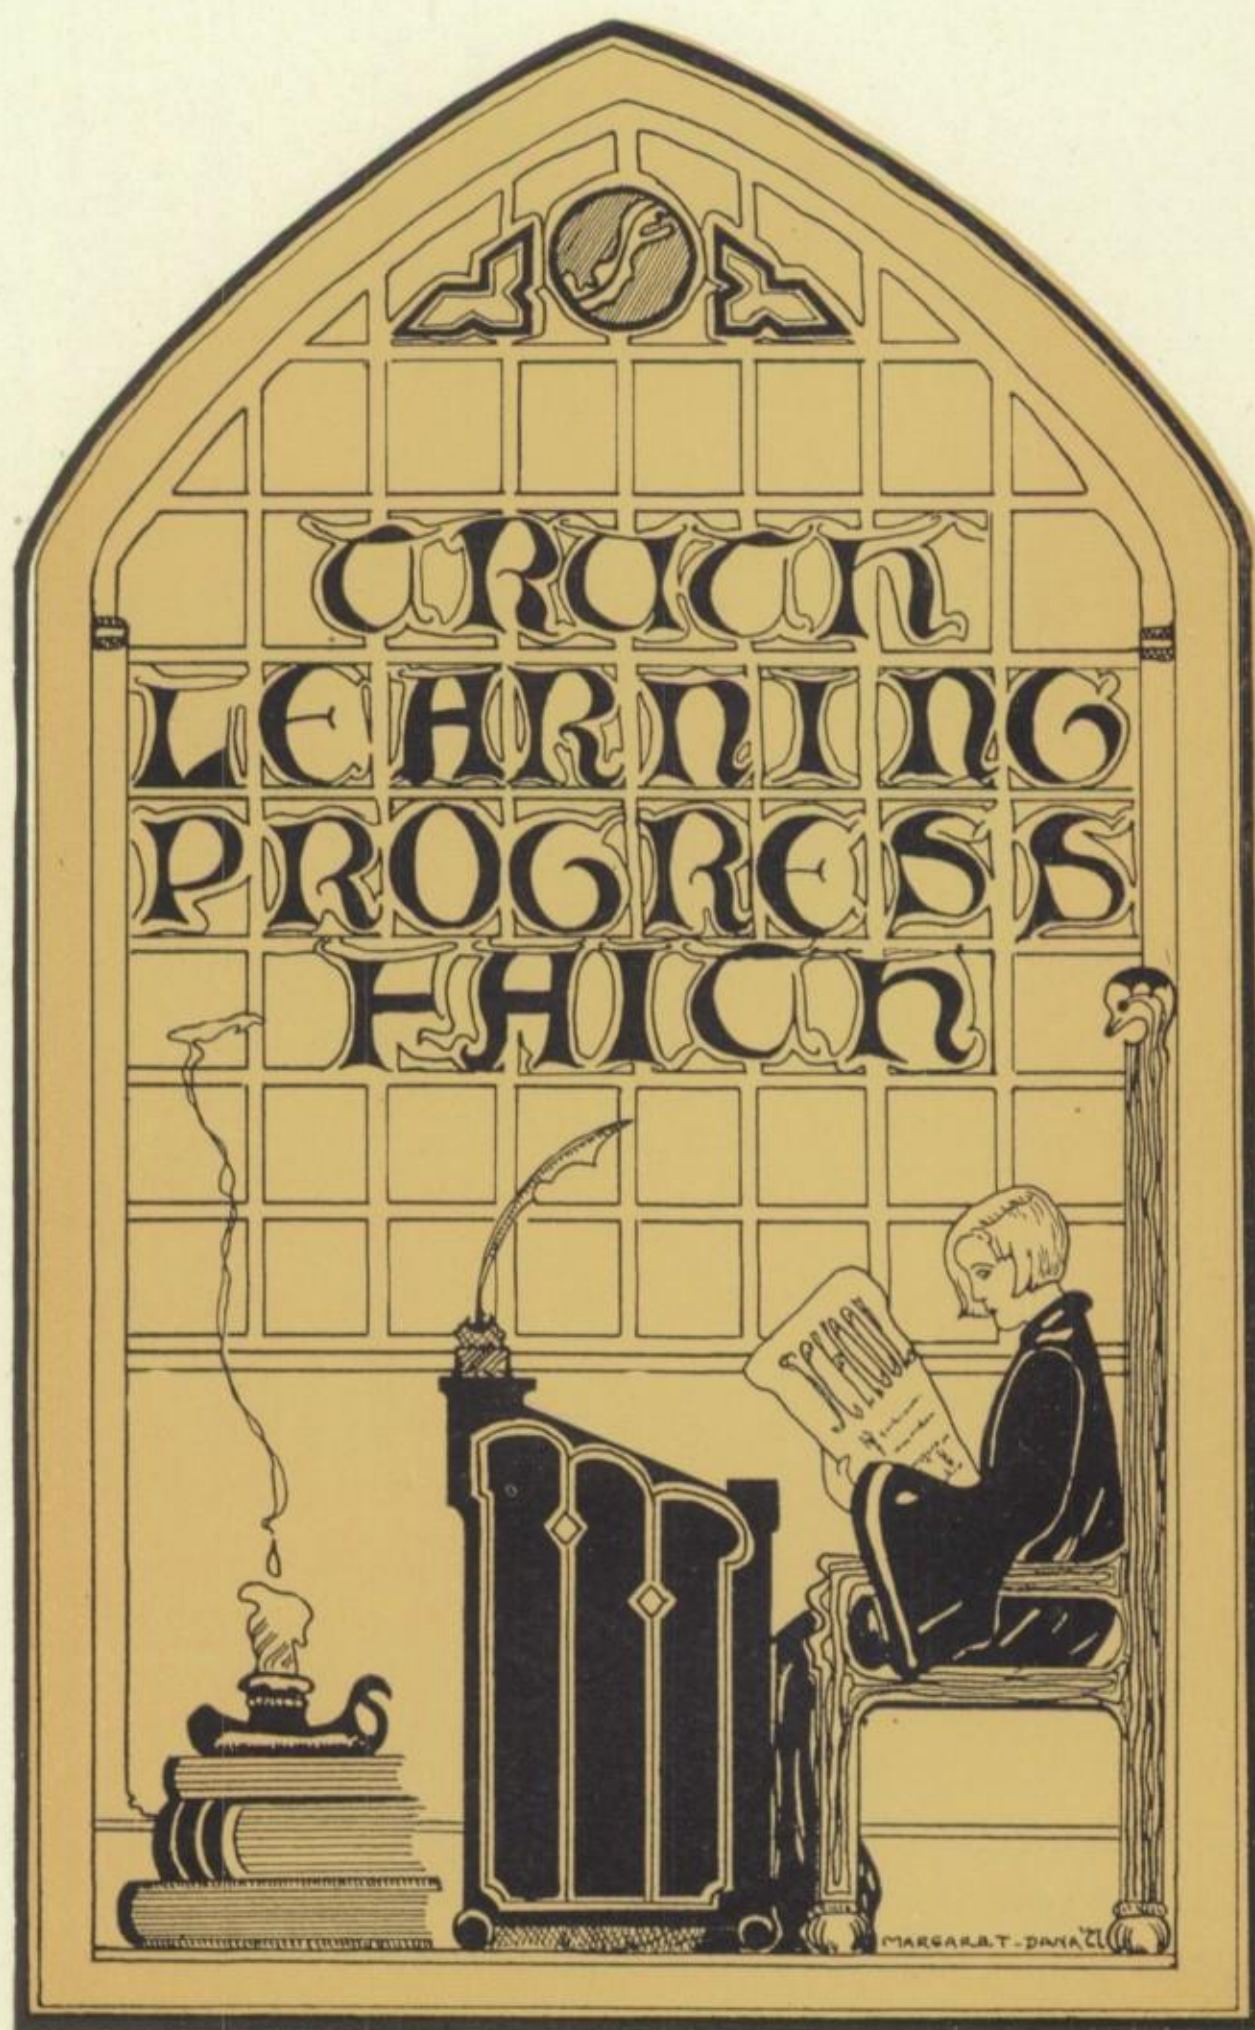

“Dreams, books, are each a world, and books we know
Are a substantial world, both pure and good.”

"No single parts unequally surprise
All comes united to the admiring eyes."

"Gazed round them to the left and right
With the prophetic eye of appetite."

"Knowledge alone is the being of Nature,
Giving a soul to her manifold features
Lighting through paths of the primitive darkness
The footsteps of Truth and the vision of Song."

Senior Class History

CONFIDENT in the armor of proof" with the bright fires of anticipation flaming high, the class of '27 issued gayly forth from the battlements of summer, flying colors of American Beauty and silver amid the cheers of encouragement from their under classmates into the joys and hardships of their senior year. Nor did they "blench from the helm" but upheld their splendid former records by a notable succession of victories in all sports, and by whole hearted participation in all school activities. Always taking the lead and setting a commendable example, this "goodly fellowship" added honor and glory to the laurels left by former graduating classes. In fact, early in their sophomore year the character and mettle of this class were manifested with a snap which was most surprising for so young a group. Moreover they continued to make themselves known during their junior year by their representation in forensics, athletics, cheer leading, and organization work. And now with the flourishing of trumpets the class of '27 heralds the triumphal conclusion of another venture toward the broad highway of life leaving behind them a path strewn with scholastic honors and athletic trophies and taking with them a deep respect for their Alma Mater and her learned faculty and an everlasting memory of the happiest days of their lives.

A Modern Ivanhoe

(Class Phophecy)

Time—1940. End of reign of Paul Kroes, Mayor.
Place—Torquilstone Golf Grounds.

ACT I

Scene I

Grounds of golf course. Day of Big Tournament. Sir Watson of Ivanhoe competing with Peeke de Bois Guilbert. Preliminary, Black Knight vs. Sir Manis Front de Bouef. About one hour before time of tournament. Sir Watson at practice. Knave Jacob Kaiser as caddy.

Sir Watson (swinging stick): How sayest thou knave? By my faith, 'twas that not a good cut?

Knave Kaiser: Boast not of that. Thou knowest not what thou sayest. Peeke de Bois Guilbert hath done better.

Sir Watson: By St. Dunstan, a biting jest! Surely thou canst not mean it.

Knave Kaiser: Ay 'tis so—it had been better for thee not to have entered.

Sir Watson: Silence knave, I knowst what I am doing (looks at watch). By St. Thomas of Kent! 'Tis time to get in my robes. Come, knave. (Exit)

Scene II

Porch of Torquilstone Club house. Manager of Club, Sommerfeld De Bracy, conversing with Speck de Malvoisin, City's noted jeweler. In corner of porch McCarthy Fitzurse shaking dice with Deane De Mont Fichet.

McCarthy Fitzurse (shaking dice): By the bones of Thomas a'Becket! I wouldst shake for an eight. (Throws out dice) Ay there 'tis. Thinkest thou couldst do better, Monty Deane?

Deane Fichet: By St. Michael! I wouldst have an eleven. (Shakes dice and throws them out) Ha! thou spokest too soon, McCarthy Fitzsy.

McCarthy Fitzurse (holding up goblet): I will quaff this goblet on your luck.

Sommerfeld De Bracy (interrupting them): Stop thou thy play. Here cometh our guests.

(Flourish in distance—all peer in direction of sound)

Speck de Malvoisin: Look ye. Litcher, the loafer, takest the lead riding on a white horse; faithful Wamba Brunet and Gurth Rosenberg attend him.

Sommerfeld De Bracy: Saints of Paradise! Look thou on the Lady Rowena of Downs. A prettier sight have I never seen.

McCarthy Fitzurse: And I neither. I will drink wassail that she may live forever.

Sommerfeld De Bracy (looking toward riders): Who is it riding with the famous Litcher? By my faith! I believe 'tis Hohensee, noted ballad singer. (Takes up binoculars) By the light of heaven! So it is.

Speck de Malvoisin: Did ye not know that Litcher lately married her?

Sommerfeld De Bracy: Nay, I knew it not. But who rides next in habit of monk?

Deane Monty Fichet: Give thou me the glasses. Heaven be praised! 'Tis the good Prior Aymer Anderson of Jorvaulx. He is riding with Athlestane Michler of Coningsburgh. His wife Lady Henning is trying to rouse him from sleep.

Sommerfeld De Bracy: Is it not he that is called Athlestane the Unready? But prithee, who may be the Saxon porker riding with them?

Dane Monty Fichet: Know ye not Hanson Hundelbert, his greatest major domo?

Sommerfeld De Bracy (hastily): Look ye, look ye, Fichet, who is't that rides with them? A rose of Sharon and Lily of Valley!

Deane Monty: Nay I knowest not who 'tis. Come here, Malvoisin and Fitzurse. Could ye help us?

Speck de Malvoisin: Nay, I know not.

McCarthy Fitzurse: Nor I. But I will drink wassail that she may live forever.

(Enter Litcher, Hohensee, Athelstane Michler, Lady Henning, Prior Anderson, Wamba Brunet, Gurth Rosenberg, Hanson Hundelbert, a Jew, Jewess, other attendants.)

Sommerfeld DeBracy: (Holds out hand) Welcome one and all. (Hurriedly draws.) Litcher to one side) Who may be the lovely Jewess ye have brought? (Points to Jew) And is he her father?

Litcher: (Calls Jew over) Isaac Platz of York at your service.

Isaac: And my daughter Rebecca Husting of York, so please your Grace.

Sommerfeld De Bracy: (To Rebecca) Wilst thou not stroll with me in my lovely garden? (Rebecca nods) (Exit)

Gurth: Another one of my hopes gone, I fear.

Wamba Brunet: Fool, desist, desist! You never stood a chance.

Gurth Rosenberg: Son of Witless, speak thou not like the fool thou art. She hast given me many loving glances.

Wamba Brunet: Tish, tish. I shalt invite you to our wedding.

Curtain.

ACT II

Scene I

Golf Grounds. Enter Guests: Jesters Gertrude and Jessie Smith and Knave T. J. Gordon. Noted Stock Company including among characters the well known players, Anna Zimmerman, Marion Kemnitz, Edwin Ottery, Royal Ferdinand, and Laurine Gerhard, come and put on performance before tournament.

Litcher (in middle of performance): By St. Thomas of Canterbury! where has faithful Wamba gone? Know'st thou, Gurth?

Gurth Rosenberg: Ay—here he comes now.

(Enter Wamba carrying a chair)

Wamba Brunet: My lord—I thoughtest I would not be able to find a seat on which to sit, so I brought one along.

Isaac Platz (very excited): Father Abraham! Where hast my daughter Rebecca strayed?

Wamba Brunet: Methinkest I saw her playing jacks with De Bracy.

Isaac Platz (relieved): Ay, 'tis probably so. 'Tis a favorite game of hers. Many times she has stayed up long past nine o'clock, her bed time, to finish a game.

Litcher: Here she comes now.

Wamba Brunet: Ay, and on the arm of De Bracy. (She smiles at Wamba) Did'st thou see that Gurth? Give me a gentle pat on back.

Sommerfeld De Bracy (leading Rebecca to seat): Now, fair one, I take my leave.

Rebecca (sorrowfully): Beware lest thee hurt thyself.

Sommerfeld De Bracy: Never with thy smile upon me. (Kisses her hand. Exit)

ACT II

Scene II

Preliminary tournament. Enter Manis Front de Bouef clad in pink sailor pants, purple shirt, green tie and socks, and yellowish tan golf shoes. Caddy Joe Hardgrove. Manis rides in on horse to middle of grounds.

Litcher: Doth he not handle the horse well?

Wamba Brunet: He should. Many times have I watched him practice on a rocking horse that he keeps hidden. He knowest it not that I saw him.

(Enter Black Knight clad in white sport outfit. Enters on kiddy car. Very childish looking. Caddy Harold Wurtz.)

Rebecca Husting (admires him): Could'st thou tell me who is't the noble Black Knight, father.

Isaac Platz: Methinkest he is of great importance. Behold! they start to play.

Lady Henning: Stop, I prithee. (Play stops) Athlestane Michler hath fallen asleep. (They rouse him and play begins again. Manis Front de Bouef hits ball for home-run; he runs after it and trips.)

Rebecca: Oh-oh!

Isaac Platz: She swoons—water, water quick! (Game stops) De Bracy rushes in and throws water in her face. Sergeant Lemieux and Lewis, heads of police department, keep throngs back. Maria Stepnoski, her hand maid, brings her back to consciousness. Play is resumed. Black Knight rushes for touchdown. He plays with De Bracy and latter breaks his collarbone. Also wins from Richet. Rebecca Husting suddenly loses love for De Bracy and decides to love Black Knight. She crowns him with wreaths of dandelions. Lifting his helmet, she discovers it is Highness King Schuessler, Grand Knight of British Empire. Lyle Trader Sousa plays national anthem "Fondy High". Mrs. Sousa, formerly Cecelia Marshall, accompanies him on portable piano. Elizabeth Nuss carries it around. Enter Sir Watson of Ivanhoe, a graceful figure clad in red outfit with large orange tie for pleasing contrast. Heralds Esteria Halverson and Agnesia Promen lead in yelling.

Marie (handmaid): Look ye, my lady. Is't not Peeke de Bois Guilbert, a romantic figure in that salmon pink flannel golf outfit, though he has slightly outgrown it.

Rebecca Husting: Keep thy eyes away, Marie. He has't broken too many hearts in love. (Play begins—Sir Ivanhoe gracefully swings stick, and to dismay of onlookers hits Peeke de Bois Guilbert who is standing behind him idly counting people in grandstand. He falls and Sergeant Radtke and Doctor Heath carry him off on stretcher. Two trained nurses, Margaretia Keenan and Pegette Dana, bring him to life with pulmotor. Opens his eyes and sees Nursie Keenan.

Peeke de Bois Guilbert: At last I have found the girl in my dreams. Wilt thou marry me?

Nursie Keenan: At last my dreams have come true.

(Outside trumpets loudly proclaim Sir Watson as noblest of knights conquering his foe in fiercest battle in history.)

Rowena of Downs: (Crowning him with tin can that has his golf ball in center) May thy name live forever!

Sir Watson: And thou, Rowena, fairest of maids, thou wilt marry me tomorrow.

Rowena of Downs: Ay, so t'is my wish.

Black Knight of Schuesseler: And thou, Rebecca, we shall marry tomorrow.

Rebecca of Husting: Ay, your Highness, could'st I have Winifredia Menzel, the historian, for bridesmaid.

Black Knight of Schuesseler: Anything thou wish'st.

Gurth: Look ye, Wamba—the joke's on you.

Wamba: I will yet laugh at thee. I think I will be best man.

Fitzurse (quaffing goblet): May ye all live happily!

(Curtain)

Junior Class History

IN the month of September the year 1925, about two hundred young sophomores entered the senior high school. Then our school-life was held in the balance; today we have already passed the half-way mark. We are now on the stepping stone to the greatest year in our school-life, from the place of junior to the place of senior. We look back with pride at the record of the years we have so far advanced.

The co-operation and school spirit which are so vital in the success of our school education are not lacking in our class. The class of '28, the first class since '21 to be organized throughout its high school life, has been recognized. Richard Grassy and Sylvester Stepnoski represented us on the inter-scholastic debating team; seldom has more than one junior been on the team in the same year. In basket-ball we also hold our own. The inter-class basket-ball tournaments of 1925-26 and 1926-27 were won both times by the team of our class. In the tournament held this year among the girls, the juniors won the pennant. What a team to represent high school in the senior year! In our sophomore year at the track meet, we won second place defeating the juniors. Many of our members hold places in various organizations throughout the school. Ever since our entrance into high school the honor roll has been led by members of our class.

Such is the history of the class of 1928! We have a great future!

Sophomore Class History

IT matters not what we have done, but what we intend to do that should be of great concern. Here the motto which our class has chosen, "Push on; keep moving," applies well. It is our one desire to obtain a goal as high or even higher than the one the upper classmen are striving to attain. A few of us may not have such wonderful ability, but already some of us have showed great ambition. Our past events have made a fairly good record, but our future one will be better. Sophomores have been represented on the Life Staff, the Peptimist Staff, in the orchestra, Glee Club, De Oratoribus, German Club, and in the band. Both the boys and the girls have showed interest in athletics. In basket-ball the girls made for themselves names which we shall never forget. The boys also had their team. They showed skill and promise of something worth while for the next two years. We have as many sophomores as juniors and seniors on the Scholarship Roll. This representation shows the intellect of some of our class. Our party, although not largely attended, was a success. The program was a clever one, and the evening seemed to be well enjoyed. So brief a history undoubtedly proves that our sophomore class has made a beginning that gives promise of great accomplishments.

The Orchestra

THE orchestra this year consisted of about nineteen pieces, including four saxophones, four violins, three trumpets, two clarinets, two trombones, one French horn, one Sousaphone, drums, and piano.

The purpose of the orchestra was to study classic and popular orchestral music for the mutual benefit of the student and the school. Anyone interested could join, and one-half credit was given for a year's work. The fact that all members of the orchestra that were graduated last year have played with local, professional, or amateur orchestras since they left school proved the value of the training acquired in the high school organization.

The degree of musical proficiency attained by the orchestra this year made it one of the best features of any program on which it appeared. Several programs presented in assembly called forth repeated encores and made the orchestra much more popular with the student body than ever before. A program presented at Library Hall during the latter part of the second semester was well received. It consisted of two overtures and several popular selections. The orchestra furnished music for the baccalaureate and commencement exercises and for the senior class play presented in the Roosevelt Auditorium.

Much of the increased efficiency, noted with each appearance of the orchestra, was due to the special help given the members on every Monday and Wednesday. Through this extra work it was possible to develop better technique and to correct the errors of each individual. It is hoped that next year two rehearsals a week may be held. This should make it possible to do even better work than was done this year.

Much credit must be given to Mr. Schmitz, the director of the organization, and to Mr. Merriman, the faculty advisor and business manager.

Inner Circle

THIS club is the boys' debating society of Fond du Lac High School organized to promote interest and proficiency in debating, public speaking, elocution, and parliamentary practice. Any boy interested in developing along these lines is eligible for membership.

The first important event this year was the initiation of new members. A large number of candidates was admitted, many of whom proved to be real assets to the club. During the first semester several debates were held on current topics. The most important of these was the Inner Circle-De Oratoribus clash in which the Inner Circle came out the victor to the tune of three to nothing. The team representing the Inner Circle was composed of Richard Grassy, Otto Justl, and Sylvester Stepnoski. The question was the same as that for the interscholastic debates: Resolved, that the Philippines be granted complete independence immediately.

The Inner Circle was honored by having Attorney F. Ryan Duffy, a former Inner Circle member, speak at one of the meetings.

In addition to these programs several debates and two mock trials were held.

The success of the Inner Circle in turning out debaters was shown by the fact that eight of the eleven members of the interscholastic debate squad were chosen from the Inner Circle. The members were Richard Grassy, Sylvester Stepnoski, Otto Justl, Carl Hess, William McCarthy, Richard Heath, Charles Zynda, and Tom Dollhausen.

The Inner Circle owes much of its success to the advisor, Mr. Filbey, who is also coach of the interscholastic debate teams. Mr. Filbey's constant assistance and helpful advice did much toward making the Inner Circle one of the most successful organizations of the school.

The Girls' Chorus

THE Girls' Chorus added another successful year's work to their record of the past years. This year the chorus was under the direction of Miss Wava Finger. Miss Finger was a member of the Glee Club during her high school term and a member of a similar organization while attending Ripon College.

The work of the chorus progressed well under the new leader, carrying on the spirit and work of previous years. The membership was increased to over fifty this past year. All girls having an interest and desire to develop a greater appreciation of good music and to cultivate their voices were eligible for membership. Scholastic credit was given to those who showed a sincere interest in music by their faithful attendance and active co-operation.

Members of the chorus took part in various programs throughout the year. Before Christmas a double quartette from the chorus aided by a hidden chorus sang Christmas carols in an assembly program. The double quartette was composed of the following girls: Louise Hohensee, soloist, Muriel Severin, Dorothy Dieman, Eleanor Dieman, Margaret Awde, Myrtle Brodda, Doris Anderson, and Veva Bestor. A group from the chorus also sang several numbers at the annual concert of the school band held this spring in the auditorium. The girls taking part in this program were: Eleanor Dieman, Muriel Severin, Dorothy Justen, Mary Marshall, Hariett Kraemer, Dorothy Dix, Virginia Hill, Mildred Erickson, Jean Salter, Laura May Twohig, Lillian Drehmel, Margaret Awde, Myrtle Brodda, Virginia Guell, Mavis Ebert, Leola Loomans, Irene Meyer, Alice Gray, Bertha Miesen, Irene Henkel, Daisy Dix, Helen Welling, and Patricia McCarthy.

The chorus this year helped sponsor a concert given by the Boys' Glee Club of Ripon College at the Roosevelt Auditorium.

As in former years, the girls of the chorus sang at the Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises.

Commercial Club

HE Commercial Club firmly established itself during the year 1926-27 as one of the most popular and active clubs of the school. The membership was steadily increased until it reached one hundred. Membership as in the past years was restricted to juniors and to seniors.

Meetings were held regularly at which time many profitable talks were given by business men of Fond du Lac. The purpose of these meetings was to acquaint the students with the ways and demands of the business world. Sales demonstrations were given by members of the salesmanship classes which proved to be interesting as well as instructive. The club prided itself on its musical talent, and much good entertainment was furnished by the members.

The organization was active in a business as well as a social way. It conducted a movie benefit which was the most successful enterprise the club undertook. It was virtually a lesson in salesmanship, and the members profited by it. The money raised was used to equip the typing room and for general expenses of the club.

The club, for the first time, promoted a school typing contest which was held at the high school. Every student taking commercial work was allowed to enter the contest, and winners were selected from both the senior and junior classes. The contest helped to create a greater interest in commercial work than had heretofore been displayed. In accordance with the new ruling of the school, to discontinue all state scholarship and athletic contests, Fond du Lac was not represented in the state commercial event this year. The class contests were very adequate substitutes.

The party which was held in January was one of the successes of the social calendar of the school.

The success of the club is an evidence of the fine spirit of co-operation and the manifestations of interest on the parts of both members of the club and commercial teachers.

Life

IN editing this, the nineteenth volume of our annual, the 1927 Life staff has attempted not only to uphold the standards of precedence which the past editors have set by perfection in original and mechanical details, but the staff also has attempted to make this annual a pictorial memento which will increase in value as the years pass. The Life, which is under the personal supervision of Miss Teresa V. O'Brien, has received a first class rating by the Central Interscholastic Press Association for the past three years.

The staff composed of sophomore, junior, senior students, is divided into various departments. Each department is under the direction of a faculty advisor. Much credit is due to the members of the art staff and art department who have furnished the cover design, divisional and opening pages, cartoons, and all additional sketches.

The staff acknowledges with sincere gratitude all services given by the printers, engravers, photographers, and faculty members.

De Oratoribus

FTER three years of prolific climbing De Oratoribus has reached the pinnacle of success with the reputation of being one of the most prominent and flourishing organizations of the high school. It claims the honor of having a long list of accomplishments and distinctions of which to be proud. As in former years De Oratoribus contributed two of her most able debaters to the teams representing Fond du Lac High School in the Fox River Valley Contests, staged between Fond du Lac, Sheboygan, and Oshkosh. Parliamentary debating, dinner talks, and other forensic studies have been taken up by the club with success. That the members might become more familiar with court procedure, a mock trial was undertaken. Debates both mock and serious have been enjoyed at the various meetings while clever work in toasting has featured the informal suppers. Besides forensic work De Oratoribus girls have continued their annual philanthropic work during the Christmas season. They have succeeded in making their annual spring tea one of the most delightful and anticipated functions of the school year. All of the successes and aspirations of the organization are but a reflection of the splendid and instructive leadership of the faculty advisors, the Misses Kitty and Teresa O'Brien, in steering the craft successfully on "the high seas of Education."

Mortar Board

MORTAR BOARD! It was a name which unconsciously inspired every girl. The club closed its fifth and most successful year with an increase in membership and influence and estimated by many as the most popular and active club in the Senior High School.

The primary purpose of the club was to insure good fellowship among the girls and to increase interest along cultural and literary lines. Membership was limited to junior and senior girls who lived up to the ideals and rules of Mortar Board.

The ideals were democracy and dependability. The girls successfully conducted pep meetings and the sale of football and basketball tickets. Each girl knew her duty, and it was this which made Mortar Board what it is.

The girls enjoyed several social events during the year. The first was the hard-time party. The new girls who were initiated at that time will never forget the dark corridors, the trip through the underworld, and the glare of a spot light. The next event was the annual "Kids' " party. "Kids" of all ages were there and enjoyed children's games. Santa was there in person and presented each "Kid" with a stocking filled with candy. Instead of a pre-lenten masquerade, the girls enjoyed a new novelty, characterization of people one hundred years from now. The girls were dressed in costumes ranging from—use your own imagination.

The greatest and most elaborate event on Mortar Board's calendar was the banquet. It was a reunion of Mortar Board girls and was held in the school cafeteria. Last year two hundred and eight girls attended, but this record was broken this year.

Dramatic Club

HE Dramatic Club existed primarily to aid in the developing of the histrionic talent of its members. It also aimed to foster only the best in drama.

The requirements for club membership the past year were based on successful interpretations of characters, scenes, and situations.

Over one hundred students displayed a variety of talent in try outs. Due to the fact, however, that only a limited number could be cast for parts during the year, only the upper classmen were granted membership. As a result, forty-five new members were admitted.

Among the plays presented were the following: The Pot Boiler, The Will O' the Wisp, Two Crooks and a Lady, Sham, and Beau of Bath. The casts for each were:

THE POT BOILER

Sud	Freelan Rosenberg	Mr. Ruler	Royal Ferdinand
Wauldly	Fred Platz	Miss Ivory	Isabelle Husting
Mr. Ivory	Dean Gordon	Mr. Inkwell	Charles Hess

TWO CROOKS AND A LADY

The Peptimist

BY their works ye shall know them.”

But certainly you cannot know the Peptimist staff unless you know all of their works.

For the paper, the activities of the staff consisted in making improvements and additions. It changed the style of printing for the title of the paper from block to Old English print. It added to the paper three new columns, With the Faculty, containing biographies of the members of the educational staff, a licensed corner for little personals about the students, The Poet's Corner to encourage amateurs, and the Alumni column. The staff also secured many interesting interviews not only with such townspeople as Mrs. Kate Pier McIntosh, Ryan Duffy, and Judge Fellenz, but also from lecturers and entertainers in Fond du Lac for special occasions. Among these were: Miss Ida Ward, English writer and traveller, Charles Paddock, World's sprint champion, and Mr. Chamberlain, Ripon College Glee Club director. Finally, the staff endeavored to give interesting and accurate accounts of all student activities in classrooms, clubs, and sports.

But the Peptimist staff with the aid of the directors of the school did not confine itself entirely to the publishing of the paper; it attempted to lay a more firm foundation for the future growth of the paper.

It created a Board of Control, consisting of the faculty advisors of the publication, the editor-in-chief, and a student representative, to manage the paper. This Board of Control was able to give, in the latter part of the year, theme credit in English for Peptimist work. It also chose a staff to publish the first issue of the paper next fall.

The Peptimist secured, as a workshop for the year, room 220, and needless to say, this room had a real newspaper office atmosphere before the year was over as a result of work done in it.

Finally, for the first time in the history of the paper, a Peptimist emblem was chosen. This consisted of a shield on which were an inkwell, two quill pens, and the letter "P".

Der Deutsche Verein

"Immer langsam voran,
Immer langsam voran,
Dasz Der Deutsche Verein,
Nach vorn Kommen kann!"

THIS slogan reveals that the German Club was alive and progressive. Since its reorganization, four years ago, it has helped the German students to learn more about the life, history, and art of the people whose language they were studying. The membership was open to any student studying German or who had studied it previously.

Besides the literary and musical programs held after school, there were three outstanding social events during the year. They were the Christmas party, the Mardi Gras Carnival, and the Spring banquet.

The Christmas party this year was a decided success. A short, two act German play, Die Wette, was given.

A beautiful Weihnachtsbaum decorated the stage; Knecht Ruprecht, impersonated by William Weddig, distributed candy and gifts. The German folk dances and German Christmas songs were other interesting features on the program.

On March first the club united with the Iberian Club in a pre-lenten carnival, the Mardi Gras. Prizes were given for the most typical French, Spanish, and German costumes.

According to a custom followed each spring a supper was served in the cafeteria. There was as always a delicious German menu. German songs, toasts, and stunts furnished much amusement.

The programs at the regular meetings were always interesting. The lantern slide views of Germany, the musical program in honor of the Beethoven Centennial, and the Heine program were among the outstanding meetings of the year.

Miss Waters and Miss Fox were the faculty advisors of the Verein.

The Science Club

HESE are the days of science triumphant. Men have delved so deeply into the workings of science in nature that they are now regulating almost all human activities by its teachings—to our tremendous advantage.

It is not strange then that we find many young students who are drawn by the lure of science and unsatisfied by all that their teachers can give them in regular class work. The members of the Science Club are recruited from this group.

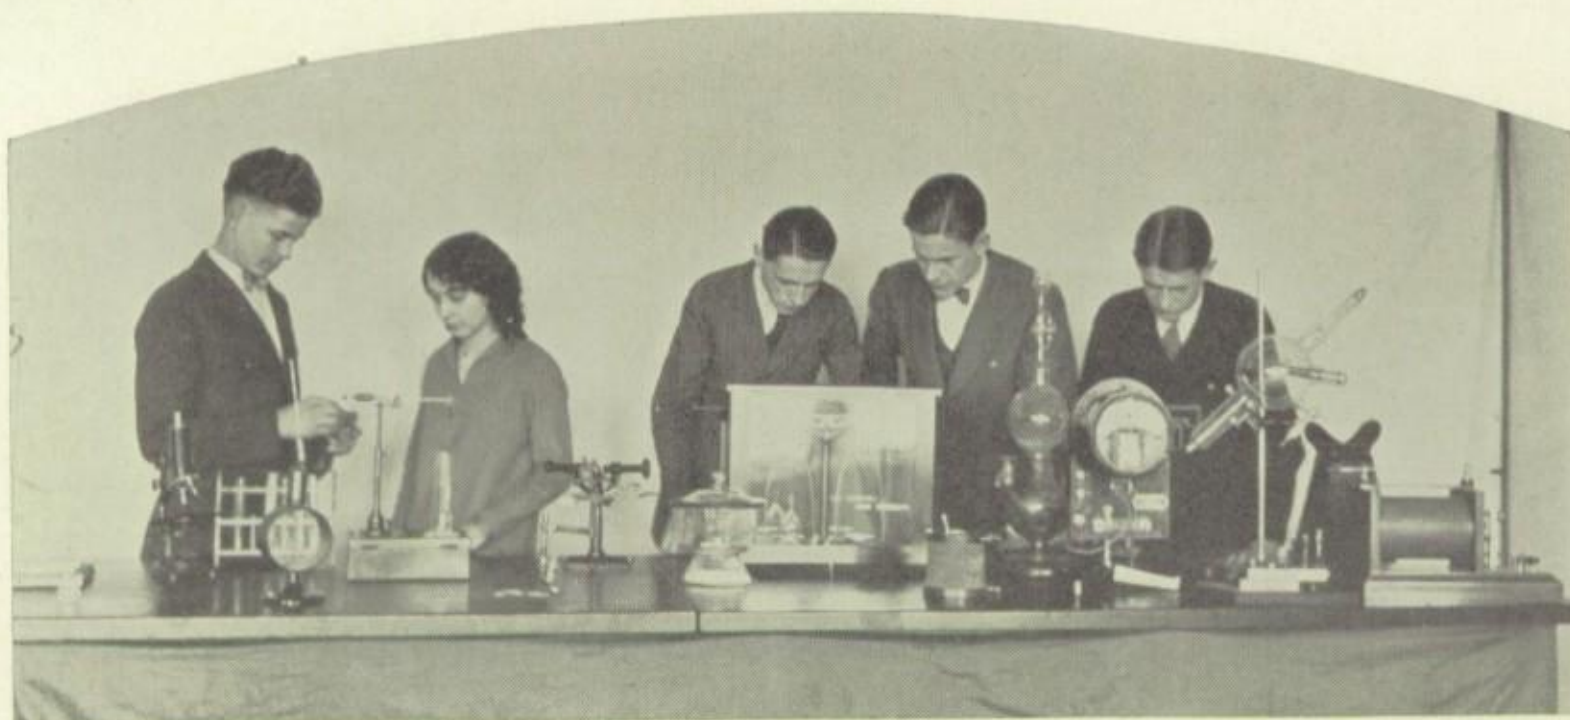

The aim of the club was to give every member an opportunity to cultivate that natural interest by active participation in its programs. Membership was limited to fifty. To be eligible for membership, a student had to have a grade of eighty-five for one semester's work in science. At the end of one semester, students who failed to take a creditable part in the work were dismissed from the club. After two consecutive absences from meetings, the student forfeited his membership.

The members planned and prepared their own programs, under teacher guidance, and rarely called on outsiders. Some programs consisted of reports of new and interesting scientific developments, taken from the literature of the subject, by the members themselves. At other meetings experiments or the results of experiments were shown and discussed. Again slides on scientific subjects were shown. On account of lack of time, excursions by the club were rarely undertaken.

The Science Club has never been a social organization; that is, it never has held a meeting for strictly social purposes. It was the feeling of its officers and advisors that the social needs of its members could be taken care of better in other ways.

The club was particularly fortunate in its officers this year. Due to their energy and zeal, its usefulness and influence were greatly extended.

The members of the faculty who helped direct the club this year were Mr. O'Connor and Mr. Jones.

A CURE FOR BORES
Lorenz, Grassy, G. Calvy, Lyneis, Pilon.

Classical Club

UST gaze on these so-called Romans! Would that Caesar were here to gaze on them also—and if he could be present, don't you think his chest would swell at the first glance of his impersonators? This is a scene from A Cure for Bores, one of the plays given in Latin and English at the Saturnalia, December 18. The two in the foreground, Marcus (Richard Grassy) and Quintus (George Calvy) bored by each other's talk, were falsely misinformed by the three other youths Marcipar (Theodore Lorenz), Gouins (Claude Lyneis), and Lucius (Joe Pilon) of each other's deafness. You can well imagine that the audience as well as the three jokers were highly amused.

The other play was A Day Without Latin showing how many of our English words are derived from Latin. The boy who detested Latin and could not see its useful side, was Bob Brown, acted by Isabel Little—with her borrowed togs. Eleanor Dieman was his sister Alice. Mrs. Brown, (Harriett Kraemer), was his mother. Helen Kremer cleverly impersonated Mr. Brown, the father. During the play, the characters read from the newspaper, facts good and bad, about their "old schoolmates" while the audience roared their approval.

Everyone fully enjoyed 1926 in the classical club and the seniors especially will remember its good times under the leadership of the first triumvirate of the club known as Cecilia Marshall, Gordon O'Brian, and George Calvy.

The purpose of the organization was to acquaint the students more fully with the Roman laws, customs, methods of election, than it was possible to do in class. Any student who was taking or had taken Latin was eligible.

Because of our excess money in the treasury, refreshments were served at all the meetings. Very odd to say, no one missed a meeting. Instead of our usual picnic, the students of the Aeneid instructed the others in the mysteries of the Underworld.

The Iberians

THE French and Spanish Clubs tried a new plan this year when the two organizations, which had so long existed separately, united. Under this arrangement more meetings and activities than before were possible.

The Iberians was the name chosen by the students for their joint club. The name originated from the fact that the peninsula of which Spain and France form the greater part was called Iberia. Since the students are studying the languages of these two nations, they selected their ancient name on the suggestion of Emil Lorenz.

The purpose of the club was to strengthen the interest developed in the classroom concerning the language and customs of the countries.

All who were taking French and Spanish or who had had one year of either were eligible for membership.

The members of the club presented a very interesting assembly program, in which tableaux of famous characters, readings and reports, French and Spanish songs were very interesting features.

A talk by Miss Roberts in which she told of her trip to France was one of the most interesting programs of the meetings this year. All who heard her might really believe that they themselves had been to France.

Among the activities were the annual picnic and sleigh ride party. The members of Der Deutscher Verein again joined The Iberians in the Mardi Gras celebration. This corresponds to the carnival celebrated just before Lent in Spain and France. It was, as usual, the outstanding event of the year.

The club very fortunately has Miss Elms and Miss Fox for advisors.

The Band

HE Band proved to be a distinct asset to the school. It played at practically all basket-ball and football games held in Fond du Lac, and in addition went to Oshkosh for the annual football and basket-ball clashes.

It was organized to offer musical instruction and to assist at any special occasion. Any one interested could join. A half credit was given for a year's work.

During the course of the year in addition to playing at various basketball and football games, several short concerts were given in the gymnasium and one was presented before the Roosevelt assembly.

The membership averaged about fifty-six for the entire season.

The fourth annual concert was successfully presented to a large attendance in the Roosevelt Auditorium on March 17. The program consisted of overtures, marches, novelties, and two marimba solos.

The profit cleared from this concert went into the treasury to be used to defray transportation expenses and possibly toward the purchase of new instruments at some time in the near future.

Several new instruments appeared this year. For the first time since its organization, the band had a marimba included in its instrumentation. It was played by Lyle Trader, solo drummer of the band.

The Band did not go to the State Band Tournament in accordance with the policy of the school this year.

The members were again under the able conduction of Mr. Joseph Schmitz, while Mr. Merriman was faculty advisor and business manager.

Special help classes were held every Monday and Wednesday under the personal supervision of Mr. Schmitz.

The Home Economics Department

FFICIENCY and Economy" was the slogan supported, practiced, and attained by the Home Economics department under the supervision of Miss Margaret Minton during the year of 1926-27.

A peep at any time into the shining kitchens, whose ovens could not confine the delicious appetizing odors, or into the bright sewing rooms fairly shrieking their diligent activity by the humming of the sewing machines and the endless snipping of scissors prove the degree of perfection attained. The cooking classes have served breakfasts, luncheons, and dinners during the year. Moreover, in the kitchens a most successful system of housekeeping has been established by Miss Minton whereby the girls took care of all cleaning and laundry incurred as well as the cooking, and which reduced the cost of operation to practically nothing. By this system all of the culinary results are turned over to the cafeteria. Beside all forms of plain sewing, the sewing classes also effectively undertook the problem of renovation and millinery. A demonstration of the combined efforts of the department was displayed at a most successful exhibition and tea staged in December. Other teas were given during the spring to faculty members while a movie benefit was sponsored in March, the proceeds of which were devoted to the purchasing of further equipment. Much credit is due the department for the splendid progress which has been made during the first year of actual work.

Matinee Dances

IN THE fall of the year a Brunswick panatrope was purchased by the school to take the place of an orchestra. Not only has the panatrope increased the number of matinee dances, but it has also served as an indispensable factor at all class parties and club dances. The matinee dances have always been well attended by the dance lovers of all ages. Even the teachers found solace in dancing to the invigorating jazz music after school hours. And what dancing was seen! Not two couples danced alike, and more than one interested spectator was amused by the antics performed by some of the dancers. As there is a variety of records, music of every description was played. First a slow dreamy waltz; then a quick catching jazz piece was heard.

The matinee dances did more than amuse and entertain us. They helped to pay for the panatrope and to raise funds for Life, our school annual. They also served as an inter-class mixer, because all of the students were allowed to attend. And attend they did! The students like to dance and because they do the panatrope was purchased. Is not this proof enough that the school is doing all it possibly can to provide not only for the intellectual but also for the social welfare of the students?

Richard Grassy

Otto Justl

Sylvester Stepnoski

Thomas Dollhausen

Negative Team

RICHARD GRASSEY

Richard Grassey owes his place on the team to his unusual ability to think logically and to express himself clearly. His arguments were expressed in a style that was both convincing and impressive.

OTTO JUSTL

Although this was his first year in interscholastic debating, Otto Justl demonstrated the fact that he is fully qualified for his position. His clarity of expression and forcefulness of argument did much to advance the case of his team.

SYLVESTER STEP NOSKI

Sylvester Stepnoski's outstanding characteristic is his ability to think clearly and logically. This quality, combined with his fluency of expression, made him one of the outstanding speakers of the debate.

TOM DOLLHOUSEN

In spite of the fact that Tom Dollhusen did not have an opportunity to take part in the debate, he nevertheless displayed great ability in developing his points. He will be a great asset to the team next year.

Richard Heath

Charles Hess

William McCarthy

Winifred Menzel

Affirmative Team

RICHARD HEATH

Richard Heath's best qualities lie in his ability to express himself clearly and in his thorough knowledge of the subject. Although this is his second year in forensics, it is the first time he has had an opportunity to appear on the home platform.

CHARLES HESS

Notwithstanding the fact that this is his first year in debating, Charles Hess has shown that he possesses great ability as a forceful speaker. He did much to build up his own case and to point out the fallacies in the arguments of his opponents.

WILLIAM McCARTHY

The experience that William McCarthy gained last year at Marinette stood him in good stead in his debating this year. He showed his capability of discovering the facts to support his contentions and to express those facts to the audience in a convincing manner.

WINIFRED MENZEL

Although she did not have the opportunity of demonstrating her ability in actual debate, Winifred Menzel exhibited a marked ability in the reading and understanding of the question.

Royal Ferdinand, Laverne Dowland, Harold Wurtz, Charles Hess, Genevieve Downs, Helen Davison, Marie Stepnoski, Laurine Gerhard, William McCarthy, Edwin Ottery, Freelan Rosenberg, Marion Kemnitz, Margaret Gordon, Anna Zimmerman.

The Goose Hangs High

XCEPTIONAL talent together with a most detailed perfection in acting featured the successful production of The Goose Hangs High, a delightful farce comedy by Louis Beach, presented by the class of 1927 in the Roosevelt Auditorium June 7. Particular skill was displayed in the interpretations of the typical American characters. A splendid opportunity for this type of acting was afforded in the portrayal of normal family life which was realistically enacted by Margaret and Freelan Rosenberg, the characteristic well-to-do parents, and by Genevieve Downs and Charles Hess, the twins and likewise the exact specimens of American college youth. In fact it is about the actions of this family and their friends that the intensely amusing and baffling plot is interwoven. The great success of this production was the best proof of the long hours of study and practice on the part of the actors and the splendid patience and skill of the director, Miss Meta Bohlman.

The cast is as follows:

Bernard Ingals	-	Freelan Rosenberg	Mrs. Bradley	-	Anna Zimmerman
Eunice Ingals	-	Margaret Gordon	Hugh Ingals	-	William McCarthy
Noel Derby	-	Harold Wurtz	Ronald Murdock	-	Edwin Ottery
Leo Day	-	Lachlan Peeke	Lois Ingals	-	Genevieve Downs
Rhoda	-	Marie Stepnoski	Bradley Ingals	-	Charles Hess
Julia Murdoch	-	Marion Kemnitz	Dagmar Carroll	-	Laurine Gerhard
		Elliott Kimberley	-	Royal Ferdinand

Class Parties

GENERAL prevalence of school-spirit, co-operation, and gayety was found in the class parties held this year in the school gymnasium. All of the mixers were successful in that they accomplished what they wished to; namely, to acquaint the students with one another. At all of the parties except the senior banquet, the panatrope furnished the music for the dancers. The cafeteria also played an important part, for after the dancing there was always in the cafeteria an array of food waiting the pleasure-seekers.

The senior class mixer, held before Christmas, was the first event on the school's social calendar. The feature of the evening's program was a kiddy-car race which brought the seniors back to their childhood days for a short time. The party was well attended and all entered into its spirit.

The junior party, held January 22, witnessed perhaps the greatest spirit of revelry. The large gymnasium was made gay with brightly colored balloons, serpentine, and hundreds of bags. An elimination dance, spot dance, and various other novelty dances filled the evening's program.

The party, given by the sophomore class, tho not largely attended was successful in a very different manner. It proved that there are among this class some very worthwhile sophomores who stand ready to back their class in any undertaking. The party lacked the usual program of prize dances, but in its place were several solo dances and readings given by members of the sophomore class.

About two hundred seniors attended the banquet at the Retlaw Hotel, April 28. An orchestra of six students from high school furnished the music. The decorations were carried out in the class colors, American beauty and silver. Addresses were given by Paul Kroes, class president, Miss Waters, Mr. Thiesen, and Mr. Goodrich; Helen Kremer read the class prophecy, and Winifred Menzel read the class history.

COACH E. D. FRUTH
Director of Athletics

AS DIRECTOR of Fond du Lac's athletics and as coach of track and basket-ball, Edward D. Fruth is kept busy guiding the Red and White's sport destinies. Through his diligent efforts he has established Fond du Lac as the most feared school in the state's basket-ball circles.

During Fruth's long regime as coach, Fond du Lac has met with unparalleled success in basket-ball, winning three state championships, and winning in the district tournaments, first place, four times; second place, once; third place, twice, and fourth place, once. Besides being awarded these conference honors, his teams have won one first place and one second in the Ripon invitational tournaments.

Since the revival of track last year with Fruth as mentor, Fond du Lac has shown great promise in this regard.

Fondy's Miracle Man always calls forth a spirit of fight and hearty co-operation from the lads under him; therefore he always places a well drilled fighting team upon the floor. He has instructed and developed players who proudly acknowledge his greatness, pointing to him as the man who made them what they are. He has given Fond du Lac the fullest measure of his devotion. He has nobly succeeded in his task. He has glorified Fond du Lac's name.

E. F. BAKER
Football Coach

Football Coach

WITH the completion of the past season, Elmer F. Baker concluded his third successful year of conscientious effort as Fondy High's gridiron monitor.

In 1921 Mr. Baker came to Fond du Lac from Dubuque College, Iowa, where he had for three years starred as a lineman on several championship teams. During the following two years Baker assumed the position of assistant coach to E. D. Fruth who at that time guided the Red and White's destinies. In 1923 he successfully filled the role of assistant coach to T. E. Royal, a former Illinois backfield star, and in 1924, with Royal's departure, he became head coach. With the aid of Fruth he turned out a truly successful football machine, a machine characteristic of Fondy's glorious past. 1925 found Baker in the same position, earnestly drilling his men day after day and again producing a successful football squad.

When the 1926 football season rolled into prominence, Baker again found himself confronted by the same problem—the necessity of creating a successful team from light, fast material. Doggedly meeting his severe demands, he moulded a fighting team which, although the lightest in the Conference, was widely feared by its opponents who realized that its speed and the results of its instructor's efforts were not to be denied with ease.

With Elmer F. Baker to guide its course, Fondy High is assured of future success on the gridiron.

ROBERT E. DUNCAN
Assistant Coach

Mr. Duncan, coming to Fond du Lac after having spent two years of successful athletic direction in Eastern schools, has clearly evidenced the promise of success in the future. Previous to his activities in the East, Duncan attended the University of Iowa where he starred in both football and track. "Dunc's" work during his first season consisted chiefly in the development of the ends and in partial tutelage of the back-field men. In this task he met with success, Fond du Lac's wingmen and back-field drawing widespread attention throughout the Fox River Valley. Because of the marked impressions of ability and success with which Duncan's work has been marked, we predict a brilliant future for him.

The Football Squad

Giebel, an all-round fullback, made some lengthy gains.

Schuessler, a speedy end, cut down his man on offense and drove in for a good tackle.

Peeke, an excellent punter, was a good man to carry the ball through.

Michler, at end, cut down his opponent in short time.

Aspatore, a veritable stone wall, had few plays directed toward him.

Dobyns, at guard, blocked off his man and tackled hard.

Wilson, a consistent back, tackled and blocked equally as well.

McMillan, playing end, scored forward passes successfully.

Anderson, a quick and clever end, always kept his man blocked in.

Watson, starring at quarterback, shot his punts and forward passes with great accuracy.

Manis, a clever blocker and tackler, was a valuable cog in Fondy's machine.

Hill, at halfback, carried the ball through with plenty of speed.

Clifford Johnson, an excellent tackler, was responsible for many gains.

Lewis, a sure guard, was good in defense work.

Kruck, a consistent center, followed the ball every moment.

Meixensperger, at guard held his part of the line, both on offense and defense.

Halfman, with pep and fight, carried the ball through and tackled fiercely.

Bingen, a sturdy guard, let few men get past him.

Musolf, at center, was always alert and full of determination.

Hansen, a fine running back with a splendid open field manner, is a sure tackler.

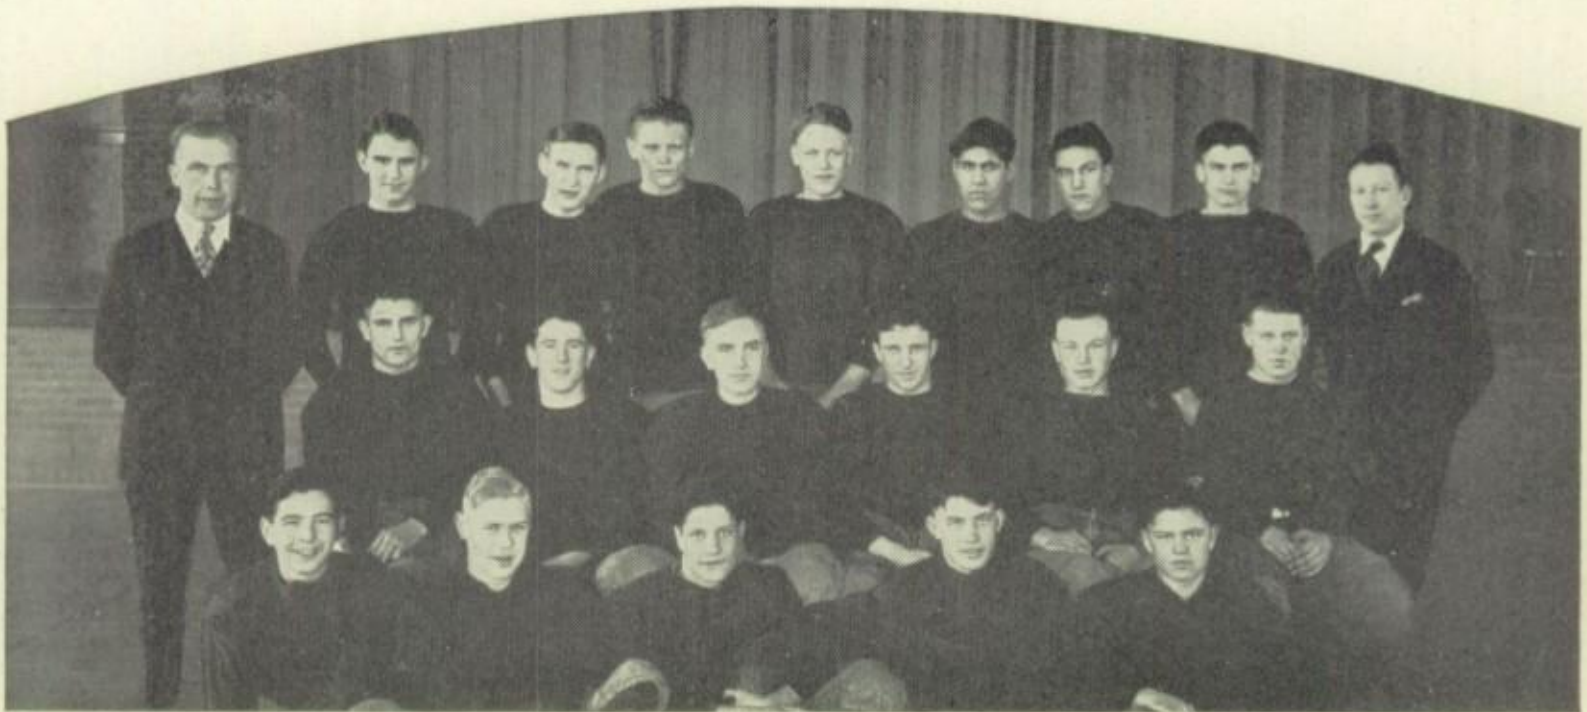

ABE MANIS
Retiring Captain

Abe Manis is a veteran in high school athletics. For the past three years he has been a valuable member of both the basketball and football teams. Much credit is due him for the manner in which he captained the team this year. Abe has much skill and ability as a right tackle; he has been one of the cleanest fighting linemen Fondy high has ever known. Fondy will not soon forget Captain Manis.

ROLAND HALFMAN
Captain-Elect

During the coming year Fond du Lac High ought to have a successful season. With a leader like Roland Halfman the expectations of football fans will, no doubt, be realized. Although this is his first year on the team, Rolly has distinguished himself to a marked degree. His ability to receive forward passes and to get his man is known to all. If Rolly keeps on playing as he has this year, we predict a great future for him.

FIRST FOOTBALL SQUAD

Second row, left to right: Marshall Wilson, Richard Watson, John Anderson, Abe Manis, Hilarion Bingen, Ronald Hill.

Fond du Lac on the Gridiron

QUANTUM victory, one tie, and five losses is the record established by Fond du Lac High's 1926 football team. The season, however, had its redeeming features. A tie game with Oshkosh is not to be taken lightly since Oshkosh was the only conference team to score upon Marinette's great state-championship eleven. The other accomplishment was the team's consistent display of undaunted fighting spirit. Although struggling against great odds, Coach Baker's aggregation distinguished itself by its unparalleled fight and earnestness.

After taking a 7 to 2 defeat from the heavy, hard-charging Wayland Academy eleven, Fond du Lac opened the Conference season with a 20 to 6 set-back from East Green Bay's strong organization. Both games were played upon muddy fields, a fact which hindered Fond du Lac's open attack and greatly aided the opponents' famous plunging tactics.

Upon the following Saturday, the squad won its only victory, trampling Appleton to the tune of 19 to 5. Early in the game Appleton scored, interrupting a Fond du Lac pass and racing for a touch-down. Fond du Lac, not to be downed, came back with a brilliant rally and, scoring three touchdowns, swept into a decisive lead which was retained. Smooth co-ordination within and between all departments resulted in the win, all eleven men working as one unit. Appleton had a good team, but a few conference elevens could have stood up before Fond du Lac's withering offense as it was functioning on that day.

Then followed the disastrous Manitowoc and Sheboygan games. In both, Fond du Lac, the victim of unfortunate breaks, was defeated. In the Manitowoc game, Hansen's 80 yard run for a touchdown and Watson's goal after the touchdown saved Fondy from a white-washing. The latter game was "anybody's" game with Sheboygan taking the breaks and winning. On several occasions Fond du Lac carried the ball deep into the opponents' territory only to lose it through ill fortune and by the scantiest of margins. The scores were 13 to 7 and 6 to 0 respectively.

SECOND FOOTBALL SQUAD

FINALLY the season's great event, the Oshkosh game, arrived. Oshkosh scored first, pushing over a touchdown in the early minutes of play. In the second quarter, Fond du Lac clearly outplayed Oshkosh and, through the medium of a running attack coupled with an unstoppable aerial drive, scored 13 points to go into the lead. In the second half Oshkosh tied the score. This ended the scoring, the remainder of the game being played with the ball in mid-field, neither team having any advantage. Fond du Lac played Oshkosh to a standstill and at times outplayed them. A brilliant aerial attack turned the tide for the Red and White and marked it as the superior team.

In the final game of the season West Green Bay defeated Fond du Lac by a 20 to 0 score. Fondy's lads held West Green Bay's powerful eleven to a scoreless tie in the first half, but the tremendous odds of weight and the weather conditions finally had their effects. Fond du Lac was slowly pushed backward, fighting every inch of the way, a defeated but not a beaten team. The game was played on a soggy water-soaked gridiron which seriously hampered Fond du Lac's speed.

The season, not a success in respect to records, was a grand triumph in the determination, grit, and spirit of the players. Fondy's gridiron warriors won praise throughout the Fox River Valley. Hansen was placed at a halfback position on the second all-conference team. Captain Manis, Aspatore, and Watson were given special mention for the first team.

Fond du Lac High loses this year 11 star letter men in the persons of Captain Manis, Hansen, Bingen, Johnson, Lewis, McMillan, Schuessler, Peeke, Michler, Anderson, and Hill. There will be but seven veterans left: Captain-elect Halfman, Kruck, Wilson, Aspatore, Musolf, Meixensperger, and Dobyns. However, there will be abundant inexperienced material since practically all of the second squad will return. Considering Coach Baker's and Assistant Coach Duncan's abilities, and the character and spirit of those who remain, we are inclined to feel optimistic in regard to next year's prospects in football.

DICK WATSON
Captain

Captain Dick Watson

THIS year Dick Watson had the honor of captaining the Fox River Valley champions. Besides being a quick and fighting forward, Dick has shown marked ability as a leader. The very fact that the team went through the season was nine victories to one defeat proves his ability. After being one of Coach Fruth's dependable men for the past three years, Dick completes his high school course with the class of '27. He has not, however, confined his efforts only to basket-ball; for the past two years he has been playing quarterback in football.
Dick's record in Fondy athletics will always be remembered.

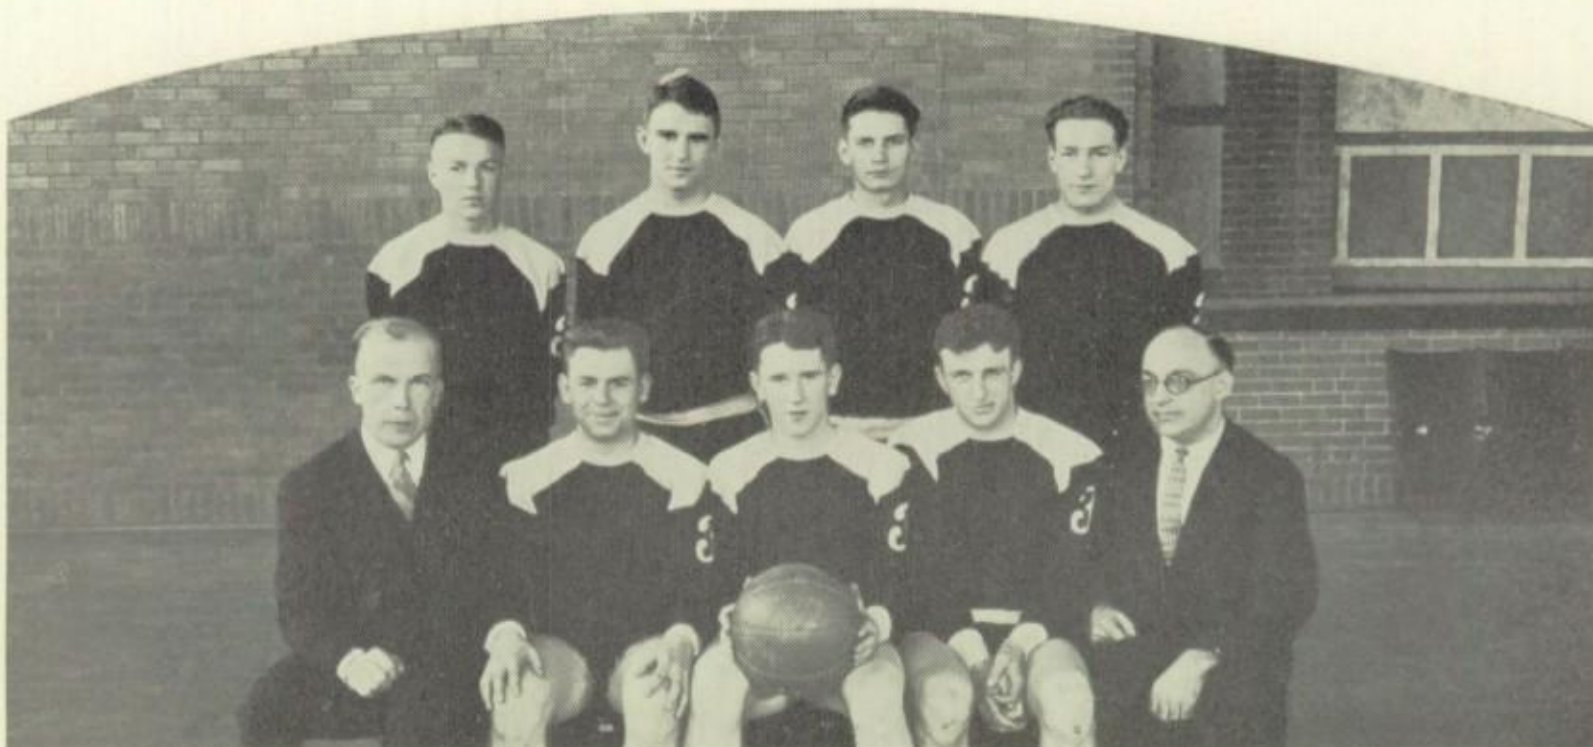

ARTHUR IMMEL
Captain-Elect

Captain-Elect Arthur Immel

HATS off to the captain of 1927-28! Art deserves all the honor that the captaincy carries. He is a fighter that never quits, a clean player, a true sportsman, one whom all the members of the team respect. Art is the man we expect to lead his men to another conference championship. When Art is not playing basketball he is trying to tune in K. F. I. on a loud speaker with one tube. More power to you, Art!

*Top row: A. Immel, L. Giebel, N. Born, F. Cookson.

Valley Champions

FOX RIVER VALLEY Conference Champions!

This is the enviable title of Coach Fruth's 1926-27 cagers. Like some of the great teams of past seasons Fond du Lac's present team has gone through the year practically undefeated. Records like this have not been uncommon in the last six or seven years. And along comes another Fruth coached team, a squad which has established a record that rivals the past successes. Fond du Lac's schedule, embracing fourteen hard games with no soft spots, was unquestionably the stiffest in the Valley Conference. The record speaks for itself. Fond du Lac took on all comers and manifested to them that she was the real Valley Champion.

The alumni and Appleton were the only teams capable of defeating the Fruthmen. The former veteran team proved too much for Fond du Lac fighting youngsters. The latter game, however, was anybody's victory up to the last minute of play when Appleton pushed in a brace of field goals and stalled out the remaining time. But these two losses may be termed the breaks; Fond du Lac should be proud of its championship team.

The preliminary season opened with Fond du Lac administering a 31 to 7 trouncing to the highly touted Oshkosh Normal Reserves, followed by a 19 to 5 win from West Bend.

The following tilts saw the Red and White defeated 26 to 13 by the alumni and scoring 18 to 13 and 30 to 21 wins over West and East Green Bay respectively in the first conference games.

The next fray was an overtime game with Appleton. The game was a nip and tuck affair with Fond du Lac finally emerging victorious 22 to 21. Then came the Oshkosh game. The contest was a failure as a characteristic Fondy-Oshkosh combat. The edge was too decisive. Fond du Lac was too strong. The final score was 22 to 11.

DEEP THOUGHT?

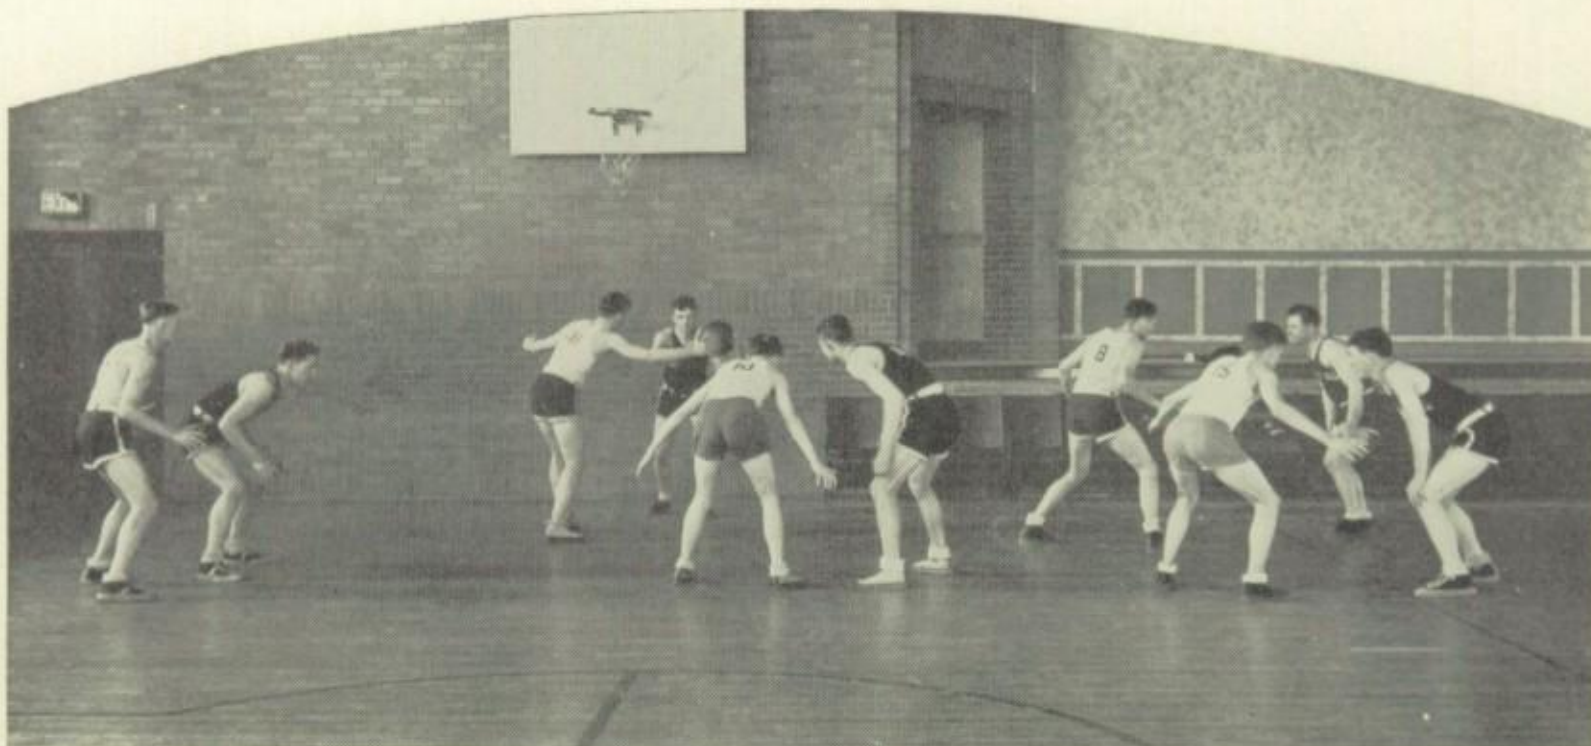

The following week saw another demonstration of Fond du Lac's power, Marinette falling under her superior work to the tune of 30 to 14.

The Valley Championship rested upon the next contest, the first Manitowoc game. A record crowd saw Fond du Lac win the best game and most terrific battle ever played in the Senior Gym. The final score was 17 to 16.

The subsequent game, another crucial struggle, was too much for Fond du Lac. Appleton eked out a 22 to 19 win. This defeat only provided an additional spur. With the greater part of the season behind her, Fond du Lac raced down the home stretch, winning successive games from Oshkosh, Manitowoc, and the final game from Sheboygan. The scores were 25 to 12, 26 to 19, and 23 to 9. Thus did Fond du Lac win the Valley Conference Championship through her superior skill, fight, and ability.

Fond du Lac's players won praise and recognition from every quarter. Manis was the unanimous choice for the center position and captaincy of the mythical all-conference five. He also ranked as the fifth highest scorer in the conference, caging 21 field goals and 18 free throws for 60 points. Captain Watson and Giebel were chosen left forward and right guard respectively on the second all conference squad. Hanson was given honorable mention. The last three players mentioned also ranked high in the list of scorers. Cookson, Born, and Captain-elect Immel who alternated at the other forward position, although not ranked as all-conference men, drew favorable comment from critics. In general, Captain Watson, Manis, and Hanson lived up to their fine reputations of past years and were feared and respected men. Giebel, Cookson, Born, and Immel in their first year showed the effects of Fruth's tutelage and developed rapidly.

The season was a grand success in every respect: the players fought hard; they won their hard fought games; they earned the Fox River Valley Conference Championship; what more could be asked of them?

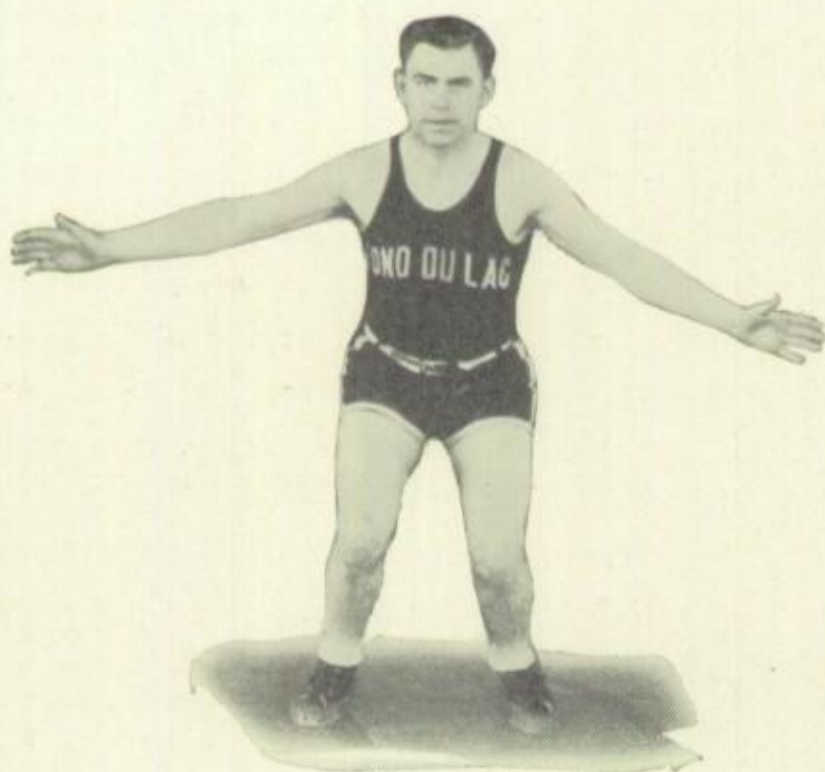

OUT OF BOUNDS

HANSEN—GUARD

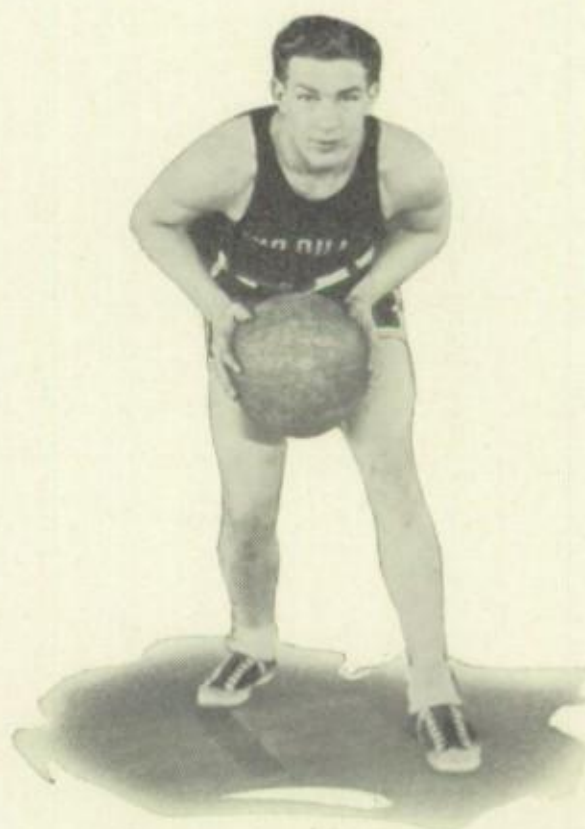

Lou, the third three letter man of Fondy's quintet, had the rare genius of guarding his man, as only Lou could, and for diversion, sliding down to Fondy's basket and scoring a few baskets to help along the cause. During Lou's three years of guarding Fondy's basket, he has been chosen on various district and valley conference all star selections. Lou will always be remembered as one who gave the best he had in every game.

FRANK COOKSON—FORWARD

Cookie, a new man to the team this year, became eligible for the last five conference games. Speed was his middle name. Wherever the basket-ball was seen on the court, Cookie was seen. He followed the ball like a hound to rabbits. Cookie's corkscrew shots from under the basket kept the fans in ecstasy. His ability in shooting baskets and free throws helped materially in Fondy's race for the championship.

Hansen—Guard

Frank Cookson—Forward

PLAY THRU DEFENSE

BOB BORN—FORWARD

Bob was the sharpshooter in the team. He was on the squad last year and from the beginning of this season became a fixture as the eagle-eyed forward. Bob's big delight was to draw away to the side of the court and pop in medium long shots. Bob will always be remembered by the basket-ball fans as "that black-haired guy who dropped 'em in from the corner."

MANIS—CENTER

Peerless center for three years! In Abe's three years of high school competition, he has been a marked man in all games, feared by all Valley Conference opponents for his scoring ability. Abe's accuracy in free throws won many close battles this season. Sport writers each year have placed Abe on the all conference selection.

LEO GIEBEL—GUARD AND CENTER

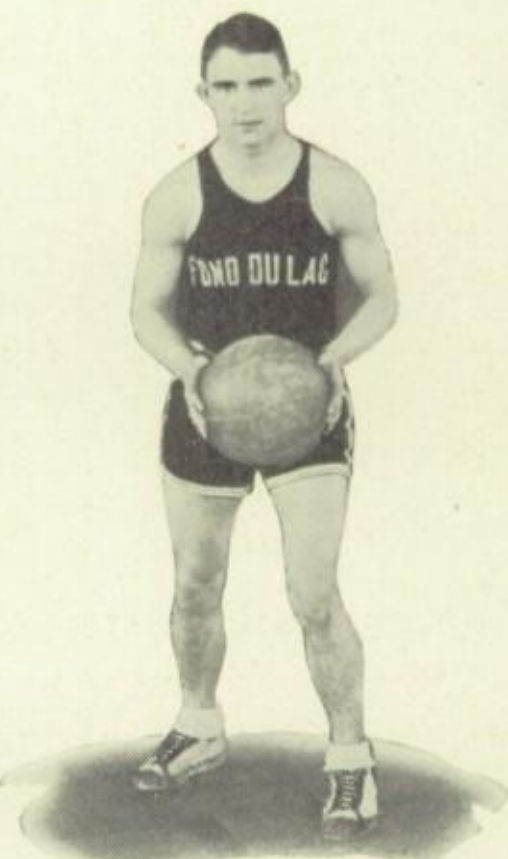

Leo, although a new man this year, from the standpoint of playing ability was a veteran in every respect. Leo was the speed guard of the conference. Although playing a guard position he was a constant threat in scoring. In conference standing Giebel rated near the top of the list in points scored. Leo was also an all conference selection. In Giebel and Hanson Coach Fruth has lost the best scoring guards in the conference.

On the Cinder Track

ALTHOUGH defeated by Wayland Academy and nosed out by Oshkosh High School in the preliminary dual track and field meets, Fond du Lac's track aspirants have shown great promise.

On April 23 Fond du Lac met the strong Wayland Academy squad and was defeated 98½ to 18½. Without a doubt the Red and White was competing above its class; however the Fond du Lac lads turned in several fine performances.

Fond du Lac scored as follows:

Mile Run: Ottery first, Glazier third.

One-half mile run: Kennedy first, La Borde second.

440 yd. dash: Peeke second.

120 yd. High Hurdles: Gallelas third.

High Jump: Peeke tied for third.

On the following Saturday, April 30, the Red and White lost a very close meet to Oshkosh High at Ingalls Field, Ripon. The score was 66 to 51.

Fond du Lac collected four first places and made a clean sweep of three events; namely, the mile run, the 440 yd. dash, and the javelin throw.

Fond du Lac's entrants placed as follows:

100 yd. dash: Lang second.

440 yd. dash: Zangle first, Hartmann second, and Hill third. Time 59.1 seconds.

Shot Put: Bingen second.

Pole Vault: Steinbarth second, Cookson third.

Mile Run: Ottery first, Aigner second, and Glazier third. Time: 5 minutes 13.5 seconds.

Discus Throw: Nolan second.

High Jump: Cookson second.

Half Mile Run: Kennedy first, Zynda third. Time: 2 minutes 22 seconds.

220 yd. Low Hurdles: Calvy third.

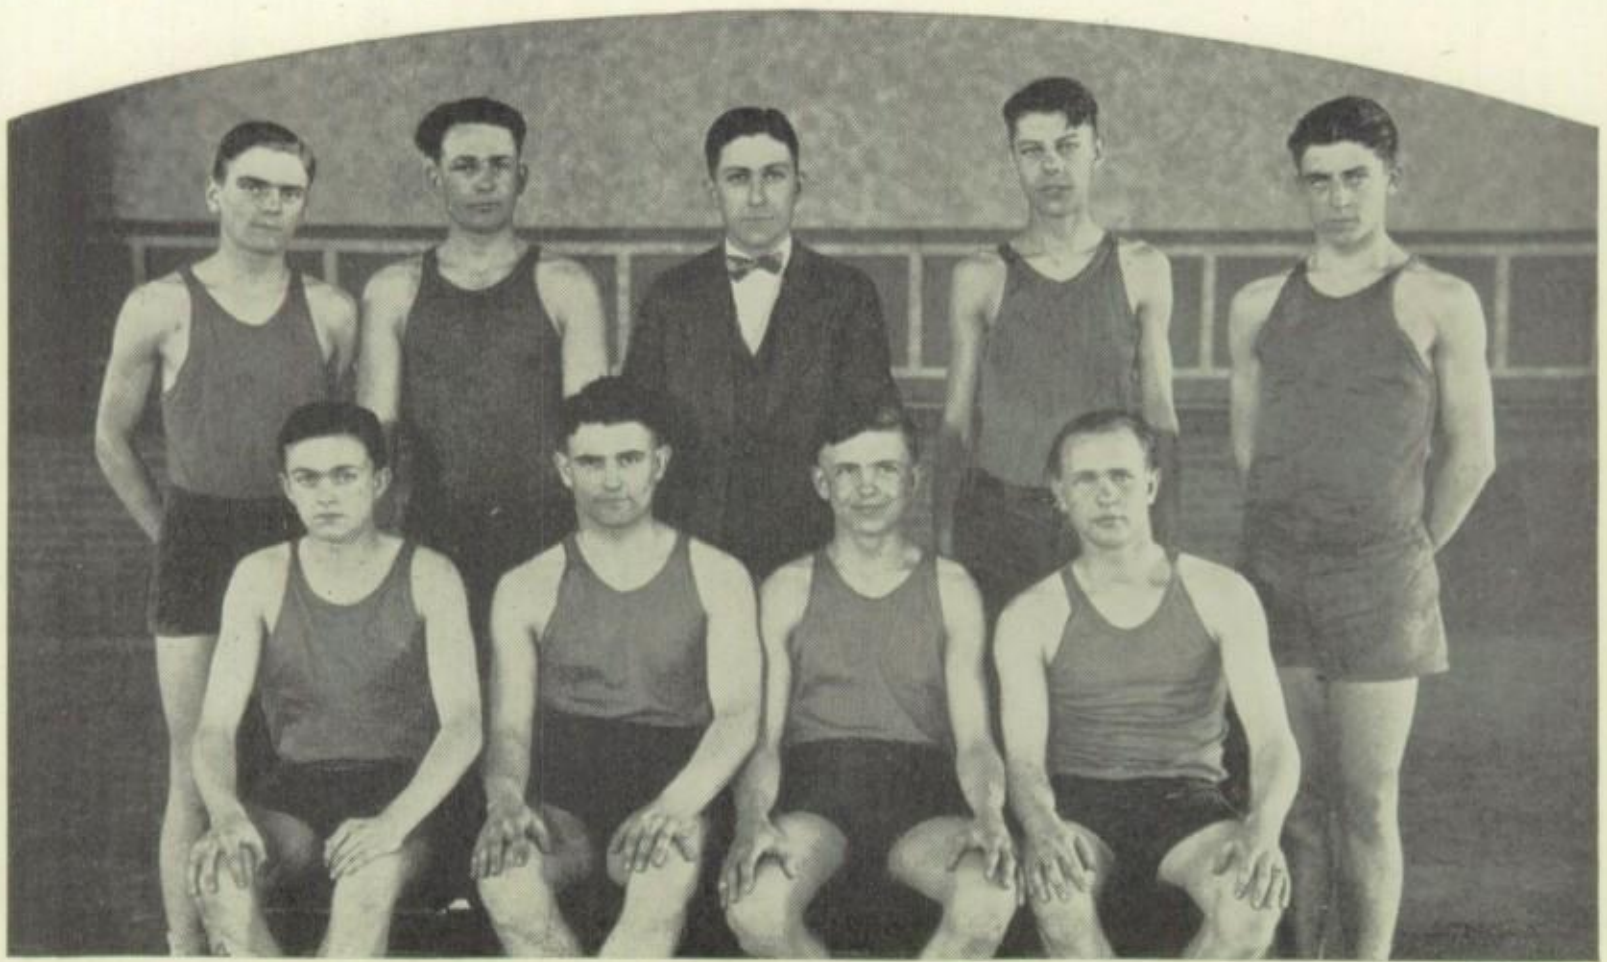

Javelin Throw: Andrew first, Zynda second, and Cookson third. 143 feet 7 inches.

Broad Jump: Cookson third.

At the present time the squad is drilling hard for the coming Manitowoc relays and Conference meet which are to be held soon. Fond du Lac will send a squad to each meet and the prospects for a high rating are fine.

In as much as spring athletics was re-established last year and as the facilities and equipment are somewhat below other schools' facilities, fine progress has been made in track. Fond du Lac should and can be proud of its track squad.

Inter-class Basket-ball

MERGING from a series of victories in which they overcame all opposition, the junior team is now in possession of the championship of the annual inter-class basket-ball fracas. The junior team, an unusually strong one this year, was certainly deserving of winning first place. No break of form was shown by the juniors in any game. In every encounter the boys exhibited their same high class type of ball.

We, naturally, after hearing of a winning team inquire as to the ability of the coach. Coach Hoff most assuredly is responsible in a large part for the successful outcome of the juniors. He inspired among his men a cooperation that is the keynote of team work. Being amiable and having a good knowledge of basket-ball, he was able to develop a winning team.

Girls' Basket-ball

THE girls' basket-ball season closed with the junior girls as basket-ball champions for the year 1927. Led by Mary Marshall, the juniors succeeded in avenging themselves on the seniors for their defeat in volley ball. Accurate, clean, and swift playing enabled the juniors to defeat the seniors and sophomores in all the games. Judging from the playing of the juniors much might be expected from them in their final year.

About one hundred and ten girls turned out for every call to basket-ball practice. The girls worked hard this year to bring the standard of girls' basket-ball up to a proper place in the high school. Although this is only the second year that the girls have had the opportunity to play basket-ball, they have made a wonderful showing.

The inter-class basket-ball games were worked up into a round robin tournament. Thirteen teams took part in the tournament. For every game won two points were awarded the winning team. For each game tied, a point was given to each team. Fifty-six games were played during the season. The teams adopted very clever and interesting names such as, Skeletons, Spitfires, Hoboes, Alley Rats, and Rinkydinks. The champions of the tournament, the Alley Rats, were captained by Jeanette Jenkyns.

SENIOR VOLLEY BALL TEAM

H. Carpenter, A. Eigenbroth, V. Byrnes, E. Hunt, J. Reinhold, D. Klingbeil, V. Ristau, Captain, E. Nuss, K. Gores, B. Lanser, M. Brunkhorst, M. Waltzer, Miss Carlson.

Girls' Volley Ball

TAKING advantage of the splendid opportunities offered them, the girls have displayed splendid athletic ability. They have broadened their activities to a noticeable degree, having introduced volley ball into their line of sports.

Inter-class volley ball games opened the fall season for the girls. Although this is the first year the girls have played volley ball, excellent material was found.

The senior team, ably captained by Vanas Ristau, won the title of Girls' Volley Ball Champions. Captain Ristau, who is an all-round athlete, includes among her sports tennis, basket-ball, swimming, hiking, and baseball. Commendation is due the junior and sophomore teams for the interest and capability displayed in the game. When the volley ball season closed, all attention was turned to basket-ball which featured the winter months of the year.

The spring season was given over to tennis, track, and baseball. The Tennis Club was reorganized, all girls who were unable to play were taught the game. Inter-class meets were held and attracted much attention. Very interesting work was done in the regular gym classes which were organized into squads under leaders and monitors. During the winter months folk dancing, goal shooting, and high jumping made up the schedule for the classes. In spring classes were held in the grove in the back of the school.

Credit for the advancement made in the girls' athletics is due to Miss Hedwig Carlson, instructor and coach. Under her careful and excellent training, the girls have progressed. Profiting from this year's splendid coaching, Fond du Lac may look forward to a bright and successful future in the girls' branch of the physical education department.

Our Cheer Leaders

SIGNIFICANT in the 1927 Season of Fond du Lac's worthy athletic competition are the four persons who have merited and received the school's finest admiration and respect. On "Bud" Downs, Agnes Promen, Esther Halverson, and Paul Gormican has rested the responsibility of leading the cheering of Fondy High. Very seldom has school spirit been brought forth as effectively and strongly as it has been during the past year. The team of cheer leaders this year has exemplified the very spirit of what real school enthusiasm should mean.

Esther Halverson, cheer leader in chief, performed her duties in a most noteworthy style. Esther surely will be missed when she leaves. It will be hard to duplicate a leader of her type.

Agnes Promen, another senior, should be highly praised for the work she accomplished as one of the leaders. She was peppy and an interested follower of the school sports. She and Esther worked well together as team mates. High credit certainly is due both of them.

"Bud" Downs and Paul Gormican although acting as leaders for their first year disported themselves like veterans. Both worked earnestly and heartily for the promotion of school spirit. They should make a valuable pair in Fondy's cheering section next year.

Undoubtedly much of the success of the 1927 athletic schedule was due to the whole hearted support of Fondy's student body under the capable guidance of these capable cheer leaders.

APOLOGY

If you don't like our humor, our jokes and our jest,
Please just crack a wee smile; we've all done our best.

If you can't get one laugh out of all this stuff,
We'll arrange a meeting 'n you can laugh at us.

Louie's very busy; he's the editor, you see,
And what a "Life," oh! whatta "Life,"
Our "Life" is going to be!
He keeps us all quite busy with work for it, and Gee!
He works and works from morn 'till night to finish it for thee.

Mr. Merriman: Nevertheless you must admit that we owe what America is today to the old Puritans.

Mac McMillan: (Under his breath) Thank Heavens! We're not blamed for it.

Abe Manis: The doctor told me that if I didn't stop smoking, I'd have a tobacco heart.

George Hanley: What did you do?

Abe Manis: I became just as bad off. I began eating chocolates. Now I have a sweetheart.

Grandma: Louise, I cannot have you reading novels on Sunday.

Louise H.: But, Grandma, this one's all right. It's all about a girl who was engaged to three clergymen at once.

George B.: What is the date, please?

Mr. O'Connor: Never mind the date. The examination is more important.

G. B.: Well, sir, I wanted to have something right on my paper.

A LATIN MENU

Breakfast (Freshman Year)—Sliced Declensions, Shredded Pronunciations, Fried Verbs, Creamed Rules, Beverages, Infinitives, and Participles.

Luncheon (Caesar)—Syntactical Hash, Vocabularic Salad a la Idiom Dressing, Periphrastic Pudding with Adverbial Cakes.

Dinner (Cicero and Virgil)—Puree of Invective, Fish a la Catiline, Rhetorical Exaggeration en Casserole, Baked Hexameter with Elision Sauce, Metaphorical Dates, Stygian Water, black.

Remember, Freelan, it isn't the whistle that pulls the train.

Junior Jingles

A is for Alice, a dainty young miss
To her, friend Sidney is heavenly bliss.
B is for Berry who to tell the truth
Is a perfect example of flaming youth.
C is for Cookson, the curly towhead
Cookies are sweet, 'Nough said.
D is for Donna, Finger if you please,
She seems to acquire knowledge with ease.
E is for Heister, the boy with the bluff,
Ask him a question and he'll stuff you sure 'nuff.
F is for Fremont as free as you please,
If he'd stop that giddiness we'd be at ease.
G is for George, they call him Pick
Which shows his Irish like every Mick.
Henry is a "Man of the world" guy,
With the girls he's not a bit shy.
I is for Immel, a popular lad,
He maketh the hearts of all girls glad.
Then comes Janet, lively and gay,
When she opens her mouth, none knows what she'll say.
K is for Kurt, that dear little boy,
All he needs is a doll for his plaything and toy.
The name of Little doesn't suit Isabel at all,
She walks like a queen so stately and tall.
M is for Mary and Morrie too,
Wonder if he'll caddie for her soon?
N is for Niles a witty young lad,
In entertaining he isn't at all bad.
O is for Oswald, Elaine's mythical sheik,
When she thinks of him, her heart sure does beat.
P is for Patty Mac, a lassie so gay,
With a certain young man she'd dance all day.
Q is for Quietness which the Juniors lack,
But in Athletics they are there with a snap.
R is for Roland our captain to be,
In football he shines as we soon shall see.
S is for Serry whose smile is so gay,
Brightens us up on any dark day.
T is for Tommy, Oh! Boy, what a line,
He is always saying "Will you be mine?"
U is for utility, which the Juniors have none.
V is for vanity which most Juniors lack,
By the time they are Seniors they will all have the knack.
W is for Whalen so happy and gay,
Lin smiles and giggles the livelong day.
X is the sign that is used at the end,
Of Joe Pilon's letters to our Harriet friend.
Z is for Zarbuck, that "I know" child,
Just get her stirred up and Oh! she is wild.

By gosh, we need Dick Watson,
 And Louie Hanson, too,
 What will we do by next year,
 When both of them are through?
 That's basket ball and foot ball;
 But just what will we do?
 We need not only them
 But Peeke and Paul Kroes, too.
 Our team is just a fine one,
 Our Peptimist's nice, too,
 But Seniors, oh, dear Seniors,
 How we will be needing you!

Just because you're to tell about the "Know Nothing Party," you need not make it a biography, Louie (Hansen).

When asked to give the definition of a barbarian, G. O'Brian answered, "I think a barbarian is the ordinary type of man."

That's all right, Iddie, you weren't exactly referring to yourself, were you?

 Marge Keenan and Ob Husting not raving about Cookie
 Louise Hohensee without her line and voice
 Pat McCormick being on time
 Aggie Promen and Esther Halverson as real cheer-leaders.

We always laugh at Deane's jokes
As hard, as hard can be.
Not because they're funny jokes,
But because it's policy.

Abie is a Senior; so is Aggie too.
They always sit together; they must have work to do.

Dick and Gen are Seniors, that is what they say.
Will they always go together? B' gosh, it seems that way.

We still have some bachelors and spinsters unattached;
But by the time of graduation, we hope all will be matched.

Louie P. (in a restaurant): "Want me to show you a good after-dinner trick?"

John L: "Sure."

Louie P: "You pay the check."

Helen Locks: You think of Morrie all the time—you know you do.

Mary D: You mean for him, don't you?

ON THE ROAD TO OSHKOSH

Elaine: Step on the gas so we can get there in time for the game.

Betsy: Which do they play first, the preliminary or the regular game?

Henry Ottery: Do you play on the piano?

Geo. Calvy: No, I used to, but my mother made me stop.

Henry Ottery: How is that?

Geo. Calvy: She was afraid I'd fall off.

What If?

There's many an if in Fondy High
Some wise, some queer, some serious too
So I will dig into this vast prob'
And confide them all to you.

Now what if Ruth Cohn possessed a name
Like "Mic" or even O'Brien?
And Itty, that funny Irish chap,
One like Rosenstein?

If Hazel Hickens didn't have
That sweet, affected air,
She'd still have her "perfect 36"
And that would get her there.

Another thing that puzzles me
Is what would happen if
Whenever you thought of Gen
You didn't think of Dick?

If Buddy Downs was great and tall,
And Louie Peeke was short and small,
Oble and Biz would have quite a time
Looking up to him as their "Man o' Mine."

If someone would choke Freeland
When he pulls some dumb wise-crack,
We'd willfully hire one and pay him
To never bring him back.

If Mr. Thiesen would casually say,
"Come to school any time today,"
And Mr. Newell didn't look stern and grim
I surely guess we'd all cash in.

This ends the "What if" puzzle
And all I have to say,
Is that we can be thankful things
Don't happen the "if" way.

Asbestos was the son of John Cabot.

DICK WATSON'S SCHEDULE

Can't study in the fall,
Gotta play football.
Can't study in winter,
Gotta play basketball.
Can't study in the spring,
Gotta play baseball.
Can't study in the summer,
Gotta girl.

Fremont B.: Yes, once I loved a girl; and she made a fool out of me.

Ruth C.: My, what a lasting impression some girls make.

Mr. O'Connor: Didn't I tell you to notice when the solution boiled over?

Norman Egelhoff: I did. It was a quarter past ten.

Miss Thelander: "Are late hours good for one?"

Sappy S.: "No, but they are fine for two."

Mr. Cochrane: Genevieve, would you please elucidate on the next theorem?

Genevieve G. (Awakening): Lose a date? I should say not!

Peg D.: "Wait till you see our new car! It has a clock, 'n a windshield wiper, 'n a spotlight, 'n it even has a statue on the radiator cap!"

Buck B.: "Gee! I'll bet a car like that has nice, shiny wheels, too!"

I love the touch of lipstick,
The tea-hound said to Grace.
She blushed and shyly handed him
Her little vanity case.

"My school-girl complexion has vanished,"
I heard her sadly say.
"A gust of wind came from the North
And blew the drug-store away."

Insane Ike: "Hurrah! Hurrah! I'm a frog. All my ancestors croaked."

Kurt: Whisper something nice in my ear.

Betsy: I'm not hungry to-nite.

The Lives of Important Men in History (of F. H. S.): Dick Watson, Claude Musolf, Dean Gordon, Fred Platz, Paul Kroes, Paul Gormican, Marshall Wilson, Marvin Guenther, Wesley Keys, and Melvin Sommerfelt.

Lives of F. H. S. Greek Goddesses: Mary Dana, Katherine Gores, Elizabeth Nuss, Doris Hamer, Leona Mielke, Virginia Winters, Margaret Keenan, Arleen Wilmet, Florence Henning, and Eleanor Dieman.

Miss Kreutzer: "What is a synonym?"

Bernice Foley: "A synonym is a word you use when you can't spell the other one."

"Do you know where little boys go, who don't put their Sunday School money in the plate?"

"Yes'm—to the movies."

Miss Dennis (to George Calvey as he presents her with a yellow tardy excuse):
"Well! I suppose the car ran out of gas again this morning."

George Calvey: "No, I just ran out of hot air."

Most of the pupils in the salesmanship class couldn't sell water on the Sahara Desert.

UNSOLVED PROBLEM NO. 9999

Why hasn't someone raised a petition for upholstered chairs and absolute quiet for the after-luncheon naps in the study halls?

Cookie: "I kissed Aggie last night when she wasn't looking."

George L.: "What did she do?"

Cookie: "She wouldn't look at me the rest of the evening."

"Do you believe in life after death?"

"No—but I do believe in life before death. Let's go."

Cinderella: "Godmother, must I leave the ball at twelve?"

Good Fairy: "You'll not go at all, if you don't stop swearing."

Freelan: "I almost got killed twice today."

Charles: "Once would have been enough."

"What are you playing?"

"Say It Again."

"Aw, you heard me the first time."

MONKEY BUSINESS

"It won't be long now," quoted the monkey, as he backed into the lawnmower.

Miss Lawless: If the President and Vice-President died, who then would get the job?

Charles Blewett: The undertaker.

Mary Dana: "When I first met you, I was sweet sixteen and had never been kissed."

Maurice M.: "Well, what of it?"

Mary Dana: "Now I'm seventeen and still in the same predicament."

George Le Mieux was arrested the other day for carrying concealed weapons because he was bow-legged and wore an arrow collar.

They tell us that George Calvey thinks an egg plant is an incubator. Yours till egg plants hatch spring chickens.

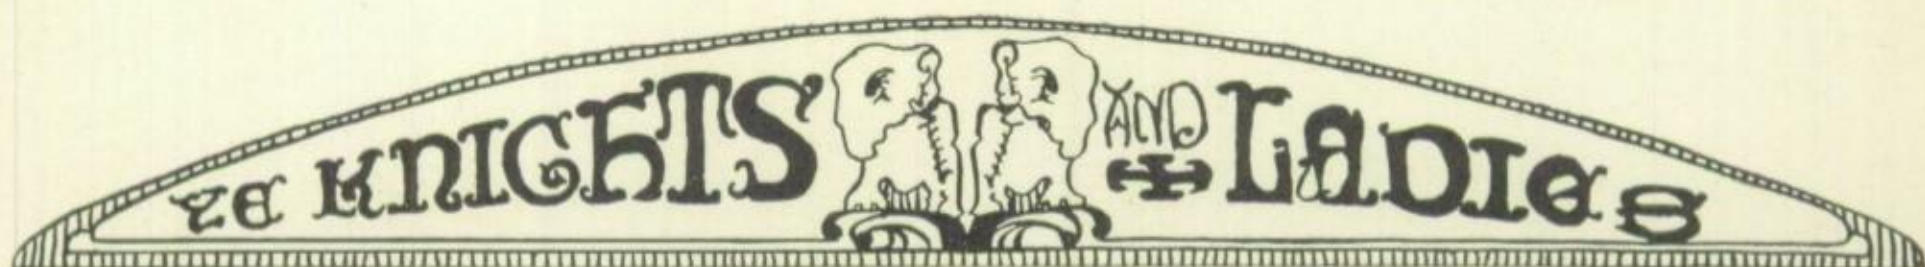

Mr. O'Connor: "Where is hydrogen sulphide found free in nature?"
